NSW LEAGUE FEARS LOSS OF $65,000

BY DAVID JACK

IF THE TOP four teams from the New South Wales State League join the planned 24-team National Soccer League, the State Federation will be $65,100 out of pocket next year.

That figure is assessed by Charles Valentine, treasurer of the NSW Federation.

NSW believes this loss of revenue would be a critical blow to its operations, in particular servicing the Parklea complex.

In 1984, Parklea will cost the State Federation $32,000 in principal and interest payments.

The National League, however, has other ideas.

It claims that, with 10 NSW teams in the restructured NSL, these teams will generate $56,000 for the Federation kitty.

In other words, the NSL believes NSW will be only $9,000 out of pocket.

National League clubs may offer to pay the Federation that $9,000.

The State Federation insists this is poor recompense for losing its best four teams.

This is only one of the controversial matters to be discussed tomorrow (Wednesday) night in Sydney when NSW Federation clubs get together.

Peter Sheean, Commercial Manager for the Australian Soccer Federation and NSL, has asked if he can address the meeting and his request will be granted.

It is bound to be a stormy night.

The NSW Executive is determined to oppose the 24 team National League and the NSL is equally determined to go ahead with the scheme.

If the State Federation clubs go along with the 24-team NSL concept, this will virtually amount to a vote of no-confidence in their own Executive.

This, in turn, would inspire resignations from the Executive.

Both sides, in what must be regarded as a serious dispute, have painted themselves into a corner.

Sadly, there now appears little room for compromise or fruitful negotiation.

We must prepare for an almighty explosion after which the code of Soccer will have to try and pick up the pieces of what remains.

Peter Sheean

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN clubs are not amused by the way the new-look 24-team National Soccer League has been manipulated to suit Sydney and Melbourne.

Despite a visit by NSL secretary Steve Kamasz and ASF marketing man Peter Sheean, S.A. has written off any chance of getting four teams into the League.

"We will apply, but it will be a token gesture," said Azzurri secretary Ted Iuliano, who is also a member of the S.A. Federation Board.

"It is now clear that West and City and Brisbane City and Lions are in only to make the League look as if it is truly national.

"If the Brisbane and Adelaide sides pulled out tomorrow, Sydney and Melbourne would still have their Super Leagues and that was all they wanted in the first place."

Salisbury, the top district club in S.A. and looking assured of a place in the NSL, has now withdrawn its application.

"I am very disappointed in the attitude of the NSL and ASF," said the club's manager and major sponsor Steve Jarvis, also a member of the S.A. board.

"They are making it very hard for any new teams from S.A. to get into the League.

"I now feel they don't want any Adelaide teams."

While Salisbury has a first class ground and clubrooms, it has no grandstand.

"We were told that we would have to have facilities similar to Adelaide City and West Adelaide, and at this stage, that is impossible,"

SA CLUBS ARE NOT 'AMUSED' WITH NSL said Mr Jarvis. "I had arranged to take the NSL people to Salisbury but they did not keep our appointment."

Only Azzurri and Para Hills appeared at an evening meeting with Sheean and Kamasz.

Polonia, Croatia Beograd and Salisbury did not

EDITORIAL

IT is easier getting blood out of a stone than getting information about the planned 24-team National Soccer League which may be operating in 1984.

The actual details about the new set-up could be described as the best-kept secret in Australian Soccer. On the other hand, cynics would call it Soccer's worst-kept secret.

Incredible though it may seem, there has still been no official announcement from the NSL or from the Australian Soccer Federation about the new NSL.

This represents only a minor inconvenience to the people whose job it is to assess the feasibility of what is in store for 1984.

Just about every Soccer writer in the land has written about the new NSL.

The scribes have pointed out what they like and what they dislike. Many have advised Soccer to go flat out for the 24-team competition: others have advised its rejection.

The amazing thing, however, is that all of us, including AUSTRALIAN SOCCER WEEKLY, have been writing about something which has never been officially announced.

To try to remedy this ludicrous situation, ASW phoned the boss man of the National League, Stefan Kamasz.

Our question to Mr Kamasz was the soul of simplicity. "What proposal has been put to the States for the 1984 NSL?"

Mr Kamasz said he could not tell us.

"I would love to give you all the details," he said, "but until I get permission from above, there can be no official announcement."

We shot a few other relevant questions in Mr Kamasz's direction but these yielded very little.

"Well... the League wants a 24-team competition. Please don't use the word 'regional' because we don't use that word at all. It will involve interstate and intrastate matches," said the NSL secretary.

And that just about sums up what the NSL was prepared to tell ASW concerning one of the most important steps every contemplated by Soccer in this country.

It is inconceivable that so many stories have been written, so many words spoken, in the media about a plan still protected by an official secrets act; yet leaked constantly.

Surely the time has come for the ASF to take the public into its confidence and say: "This is what we are proposing. How do you like it?"

We could understand the secrecy several weeks ago when the ASF and NSL wanted to make sure all State Federations were briefed on the 24-team plan before the media stuck its teeth into it.

But that was long ago. Today, everyone in Soccer knows what is afoot. Everyone, that is, apart from the media and the public.

Have we not waited long enough?

Public relations has never been a strong point in Australian Soccer.

One would imagine that larger than life characters like Rudi Gutendorf, Tommy Docherty and Frank Arok would have impressed upon Soccer the value of letting folk know what is going on.

When Rudi, The Doc or Arok have something to say, they come out and say it.

With such people in positions of power, Soccer could always be guaranteed many precious centimetres of newspaper space and much time on radio and television.

The current secrecy over the NSL's 1984 format is difficult to understand. Indeed, it is indefensible.

POTTED PREVIEW By Chrystal Ball

BIG Sunday for the Sydney Italians with Leichhardt meeting Marconi at St George Stadium — half of double-header bill. Other half of the double bash also crowd-pleaser with Saints taking on Adelaide City.

Middle Park is ideal setting for battle of giants, perhaps Australia's most talented sides, Sth. Melbourne and Syd. City. Could be match of year: draw predicted. Preston, home to toothless Lions, good for three points. Another big attraction KB v Olympic. Rest of NSL program so-so quality, but the St George double-header is double value for the fans.

VEST BIDS FOR STARS

BY TOM McKAIN

ALAN VEST is setting his sights high on the transfer market in an effort to get West Adelaide back among the NSL leaders.

He has Sydney City pair John Kosmina and David Mitchell — now with Scotland's Rangers — on his list of wanted players for 1984.

The club asked him to supply the names of players he would need to guarantee a spot in the top four next season.

Apart from Mitchell and Kosmina he has listed Canberra pair Steve Bryant and George Christopoulos, plus Leichhardt's Peter Tredinick.

"I'm not saying we can get all these players, but the club wanted names and I came up with them," said Vest.

"I also have another list as a back-up and I have been told the club will be able to announce a 1984 budget in November."

"Mitchell has said he wants to come here during the UK close season if he makes it with Rangers: so why shouldn't he guest for us with his family living in Adelaide?"

"Kosmina is also an Adelaide lad, and if he makes a move why not back to West?"

Vest did not say which players he would be releasing nor would he discuss his own future.

He still has another year of a two-year contract to run, but it is understood there is a clause which gives the club, and the coach, an "out" if either wants to part company.

The move by West to ask for a wanted players list comes as a shock as the club recently asked the current squad to take an immediate cut in wages to save cash.

Public Relations manager George Capetanakis said there was no cash crisis, but with West unlikely to do anything at this stage in the season, the club wanted to plan for 1984.

In a recent club program, Vest appealed to supporters to back the current crop of players, and said the squad's morale had never been lower.

Certain players have been targets for disgruntled fans, with striker Paul Wormley and midfielder Mickey Brennan the most recent.

Brennan was suspended by the club for giving a "signal" to fans who jeered him, while the committee has told Wormley he is no longer required.

Wally Bojczuk and Stewart Blair were "hounded" after being signed earlier this year, and eventually Bojczuk return to State League club Azzurri while Blair went to Adelaide City in a deal involving Chris Manou switching to West.

Vest could be battling to retain some of this year's squad, upset by the suggested cash cuts.

Big centre back Robbie Dunn has already had feelers from Sydney clubs, and striker Graham Honeyman is considering seeing out his career in the State League.

Wormley, signed by Vest, has already gone, and there is no guarantee Brennan will want to stay, or that supporters will want him.

Goalkeeper Martyn Crook, dropped and replaced by Gary Sproul, may finally make a move interstate.

Full-back Bill Amey is another "import" who is not the fans' favourite and he, too, could move on.

In the end, Vest may need a longer list of wanted players!

front — after saying they were interested.

Para said they were interested but had no plans for next year.

"We may look at it in two year's time," said secretary Mrs Sue Cooper.

"If we tried for 1984, we would be committing financial suicide."

While the S.A. Federation was never keen to lose more clubs to the NSL and had backed Victoria's original idea of Super Leagues in each State, it had eventually seen support for four S.A. teams as lifting the game as a whole.

They wanted four Adelaide clubs with the one to finish last of the group automatically relegated to leave a place for the State League champions to move up.

Now it is felt the local clubs have no incentive as far as going national is concerned and Adelaide City and West will be in the NSL as long as they can afford it — with little chance of being relegated.

Unless both clubs can come up with some cash to buy star players they will remain "plodders" in the NSL.

Mr Sheean said there would always be places

DEATH OF HARRY LAKMAKER

AUSTRALIAN Soccer heard the shock news that Harry Lakmaker died suddenly last Saturday morning. Mr Lakmaker was 61.

He had been one of the hardest-working officials for any club to join the national competition.

"If a club has the facilities, finance and playing strength then of course it could join the League," he said.

"We fought hard at the conference table to keep S.A. in the League, and would like to see more Adelaide clubs, but if they don't measure up to those from other States, they can't be accepted."

"Clubs have been told what we want. Applications for the enlarged League have still to be called for, and no decision has been made on who is in, or out, at this stage."

in the game for many years, most of his time and energy being spent on the welfare of Sydney City and, before the change of name, Sydney Hakoah.

Everyone in NSW Soccer knew Harry Lakmaker, an official who was involved in so many important decision-making moves since the foundation of the NSW Soccer Federation in 1957.

In recent years, Mr Lakmaker took a keen interest in the National Soccer League and was, in fact, Treasurer of that competition at the time of his death.

Before moving into administration, he was a player with the Sydney Austral club.

There will be a service today (Tuesday) at Chevra Kadisha on the corner of Oxford Street and Wallace Street, Woolahra, Sydney, at 11.45 a.m.

Harry Lakmaker was one of the great characters of post-war Soccer in this country and he will be missed by many people.

ASW extends sympathy to Mr Lakmaker's relations in their grief.

Soccer crowds will, hopefully, be seeing more double headers in the future.

DOUBLE HEADER SPECTACULAR

BY JOHN ECONOMOS

NEXT SUNDAY at the St George Stadium, the first NSL double header this season will be staged when Saints take on Adelaide City followed by the "The Italian Job", when Leichhardt clashes with Marconi.

Last night, officials from the St George and Leichhardt clubs met in the boardroom of the Apia club to formulate Sunday's double header spectacular.

As well as the two NSL fixtures, an added bonus comes at 1 pm when Australia's Under 15's play New Zealand.

St George manager-coach, Frank Arok, said after the meeting: "It is the first time this season that two NSL clubs have got together to work out a double-act for the Soccer fans. Both matches are very interesting, as three of the teams are battling for top four positions, whilst the other is out to make life difficult for the rest."

Arok continued: "We are most satisfied with the arrangements because despite pitch rivalry, St George and Leichhardt were willing to co-operate to stage this double-act."

"We feel it will not be the last double header. We expect a big crowd from the three Sydney clubs, contributing to a great atmosphere."

Leichhardt's secretary-manager, Renato Orsatti, said after the meeting: "We had to get together and provide a good double-act for the Soccer public, promote it well and give a top value entertainment card for the Soccer fans."

Should the double header programme meet with success, and I'm sure it will as it represents good value for the public, don't be surprised to see more double headers in the near future at the St George Stadium.

MITCHELL SCORES

Striker David Mitchell (foreground)

BY JOHN ECONOMOS

DAVID MITCHELL, who left Sydney City to seek his fortune with crack Scottish side, Rangers, has already grabbed the limelight with the light blues.

The tall, lanky Mitchell, last Saturday, starred for Rangers when they defeated Queen Of The South 4-1 in their Scottish League Cup match.

Mitchell brilliantly set up two of the Rangers goals, and topped off his constructive debut performance by smashing in a goal himself.

Mitchell told us last night that he had intentions of going to Motherwell, if he could not establish himself with the world famous Glasgow club, Rangers.

It now looks as if John Kosmina's loss of a playing partner at Sydney City could well prove Rangers' gain.

It's early days though in the big world of Soccer

LYSAGHT PLAYER

BY PHIL MURPHY

LYSAGHT'S player Ian Johnson has been suspended for life by the Illawarra Soccer Association Council.

Johnson appeared before the council on a charge of striking referee Peter Gleeson during the game against Unanderra at Lysaght's Recreation Ground.

At a lengthy hearing, Unanderra club produced a video of the game but Association president George Naylor said the video was not conclusive evidence.

He said Johnson produced a number of witnesses during the hearing and was given every chance to prove his innocence.

"In a case of this kind we have the policy that a player must be allowed to bring forward witnesses if he feels they can help the case," Naylor said.

Another Lysaght's player, Gary Johnson, also appeared at the hearing.

He was charged with approaching the referee in a threatening manner after the final whistle.

It was reported he ran from the Lysaght's goal half the length of the field towards Gleeson but was pulled back by a club official. The council severely reprimanded him.

They also had a lengthy discussion with Lysaght's officials about the club's disciplinary record this season.

They were told their club has the worst record in the Association and later Naylor said he is confident this situation will change.

Only a week earlier Cringila player Jimmy Spirovski was outed until the start of 1987 after being involved in an incident with referee Vince Caloi during the game against Warilla Wanderers.

Since that incident an 18-year-old cadet referee was knocked "out cold" while refereeing an under 16 semi-final between Warilla Wanderers and Berkeley.

The recent violence combined with a record number of red and yellow cards have prompted former Association judiciary chairman Danny Delaney to call for stiffer punishments.

He said positive action must be taken immediately to prevent complete chaos.

Delaney said players punching or kicking other players must be outed for half a season to make other players realise they face the same fate.

"The present sentences and fines just don't seem to be working so they must be increased," he said.

Clubs might have to realise they have a big responsibility in this matter.

If they suddenly find themselves without a key player for half a season they might have to make sure it doesn't happen again.

There is also a very real danger of Soccer in Illawarra becoming extinct because there won't be any referees to control games.

In recent years a number of experienced referees have given the game away and less experienced men have had to control games they should not have handled.

QUEENSLAND'S two National League clubs, Brisbane City and Lions, could seek written guarantees from the NSL on the draw for the proposed regionalised 1984 competition, reports Geoff Stead.

The two clubs have been prompted by the Queensland Soccer Federation Management Committee to get the guarantees before agreeing to the new format.

It is understood the QSF Management Committee fears that under the format, which allows the NSL management to allocate venues, Queensland could go years without seeing some prominent Southern teams.

Under the format, expected to be announced this weekend, it is understood the Queensland sides would play the Adelaide teams twice, teams from Melbourne once and a group of teams from Sydney once.

City and Lions would not play those teams in Section A of the Eastern Region.

The two clubs, the QSF Management Committee and the NSL officials Stefan Kamasz and Peter Sheehan met at Perry Park more than a week ago at which verbal assurances were given that the draw would be rotated.

But the QSF is still urging the clubs to get something in writing.

After experiencing first hand the collapse of its

State League, the Federation believes it can see the writing on the wall for City and Lions in the NSL.

In the State League, the country teams were left out in the cold when the Brisbane-based sides after three years objected to subsidising the extra travel costs of teams like Townsville and Capricornia (Rockhampton).

The QSF fears, in time, the Sydney and Melbourne clubs could take the same attitude with regards to Brisbane and Adelaide sides.

City and Lions are likely to raise the matter at the next NSL Council of clubs meeting.

'Sad day for Soccer'

Jim Hermiston

OLYMPIC NO-HOPERS

SYDNEY OLYMPIC has long been referred to as the sleeping giant of Australian Soccer.

After some of the tragic and sad scenes at St George Stadium last Sunday when Olympic lost 3-0 to Brisbane City, this image must have been smashed to smithereens. Olympic is not the sleeping giant — it is the biggest no-hoper in Australian Soccer!

Four weeks ago Olympic was the most exciting and entertaining team in the game here. Now it is a shattered, broken and of the other players are only playing out their contracts.

Any similarity between the Olympic of Sunday and the Olympic of four weeks ago is purely coincidental.

The "white ants" have been allowed to infiltrate the backroom of the Olympic set-up and their infiltration has made it "mission impossible" for The Doc and his players.

Loyalties are divided and the gap has become so wide, never again will this squad of players weld into a formidable unit.

One of the most sickening things I have seen during 30 years in the game was coaches hovering around like vultures at the Olympic game on Sunday — before the carcass was even delivered.

Coaches, I may add, I wouldn't let near a kids team.

Even Henry Kissinger couldn't get Olympic out of their present mess.

As for the game itself, all credit must go to Brisbane City and coach Jim Hermiston for capitalising on Olympic's woes and winning the match.

They are well coached by Hermiston who is a protege of The Doc's.

The Queenslanders made capital of some terrible play in the Olympic midfield to carve out and score the three goals.

They were scored by Lucciano Fabrizio 37th minute, Gary Bromfield 57th minute and Bobby Hamilton 78th minute.

As a coach, The Doc was in a hopeless situation on Sunday — tragically put there through no fault of his own.

This was a sad day for Olympic and indeed Australian Soccer and it highlights the instability that exists in the present club set-up.

BIG OLLIE GETS A VITAL GOAL

BY STEVE BURNS

AGE does not weary him, nor the years condemn. Veteran Peter Ollerton just keeps bobbing up when Preston so vitally need him.

On Sunday, his solitary goal match-winner increased dramatically Preston's lead at the top of the NSL.

Preston's victim was Canberra Arrows — but Canberra was unlucky to lose.

Quicker to the ball and much more determined, they outplayed the League leaders and made them look anything but possible premiers.

But Canberra made two fundamental errors. The first was to persist with the high ball, the second not to have brought on Tony Brennan a great deal earlier.

When Brennan did appear — for Phil Redmond in the 65th minute — he showed much of his old zest, determination, and hard running.

Could Brennan have sustained the effort for a full 90 minutes?

As for the high balls, Preston's big backline dealt with them with ease, as did goalkeeper, Richard Wilson.

It wasn't until the final 15 minutes that Preston's well-drilled defence looked shaky and uncertain.

Despite packing the defence with seven and eight players in the last 15 minutes, Canberra did force five corners and had Preston in trouble.

But there always seemed to be the one leg, boot or body too many.

And then there was Richard Wilson.

Wilson had a great game against his old club, and one save in particular was super.

It came late in the second half to deny Don McLaren a vital equaliser.

At the other end, Preston did create chances after proving time and again to be the masters of the quick break.

Wee Georgie Campbell made several jinxing runs and Zarko Odzakovic showed impressive close-ball skills.

Both he and Campbell deserved to score but Canberra's goalkeeper, Steve Hoszowski, denied them their opportunity.

So often, Canberra threatened to score... and threatened... and threatened...

It all came to nothing. And finally the match-winner tragically came from Canberra's only defensive error when a headed clearance fell straight to big Ollie's feet near the edge of the penalty area and after easily brushing aside a tackle from full-back, Andrew Young, Ollerton scored.

But Canberra who, like Preston, were so savagely beaten the previous weekend can take consolation from their gutsy fighting performance.

CANBERRA: Hoszowski, Young, Amrosino, Murray, Walsh, Bryant, Stone, Gibson, Redmond (Brennan 65), McLaren, Farina.

PRESTON: Wilson, Opasinas, Petrovski, Ilioski, Jones, Todorovski, Campbell, Flavell, Farrell, Odzakovic, Ollerton.

REFEREE: H. Wilkinson.

PATON GRABS HAT TRICK

BY HARRY HALL

A GLORIOUS hat-trick by Jamie Paton gave Footscray a convincing 3-1 win over bottom-placed Wollongong City.

Footscray overcame the shock of an early goal by Roy Cotton and came back to win convincingly.

After a shaky first quarter, Footscray imposed their authority on the game and dominated in all areas.

Wollongong City hit the lead in the 10th minute when Ainsworth dispossessed Paton and chipped the ball to Cotton who placed it in the net beyond Boland's reach.

The goal awakened Footscray who subsequently created chances galore in front of Vardareff's goal, but they went astray until the 44th minute when Paton struck for the first time.

Paton connected with a Purdie cross to hammer the ball home.

Footscray continued dominating the game in the second half and their lead seemed inevitable because of tremendous pressure they applied on their opponents.

Paton struck for the second time in the 54th minute with a perfect opportunist goal. He latched on to a loose ball, weaved his way through the defence and side-stepped Vardareff to place the ball home.

Indictative of Footscray's dominance is the account of corner-kicks conceded by the visitors throughout the game. Wollongong conceded 17 corners against six by Footscray.

Second-half substitute, Zdravko Lujic, contributed to his team's win by initiating the attacking move which produced the third goal. Lujic fed O'Donnell with a through ball and the talented midfielder in turn squared to Paton who made the final scoreline Footscray 3 Wollongong 1.

SLICKERS SLUMP

BY JOHN ECONOMOS

SYDNEY CITY lost a glorious chance of precious premiership points when the unrated West Adelaide went away from Sydney Athletic Field with a hard-won 1-0 draw

This slip-up by the Slickers will make their task of winning a fourth successive NSL title that much more difficult.

Understandably, Westad came to Sydney intent to play it tight, and in this department, giant centre-back, Robbie Dunn, together with Alan Hiern, were magnificent.

John Kosmina found it very difficult to bust through the middle as Willie Murray desperately probed the flanks.

Joe Watson repeatedly switched play with his crosses, but Westad shut-down.

Sydney City's midfielder, Jean Paul de Marigny, almost solved his team's problem when he hit the post in the first half. Westad would have had to come out had Marigny's shot gone in.

But the visitors continued to rely on the odd break-away.

One of these almost proved fatal to Sydney City when in the 56th minute, Westad's striker Tim Brown shot from close range, bringing a great save from goalkeeper, Tony Pezzano.

But the ball ran loose to the right where flankman Graham Heys latched on to it. Heys blasted well on target, only to see Pezzano get up off the floor from the previous save and again save with his left leg.

These double successive Pezzano saves, in fact, saved Sydney City.

Sydney City's midfield trio of Gomez, de Marigny and Barnes, lacked some imagination to tear open Westad at the back.

Tough as teak, right-back, Ian Souness, in the 78th minute, frustrated by the close-marking, pushed up on the right and first-timed a vicious 25 metre shot that screamed over the West Adelaide crossbar.

Disappointed Sydney City coach, Eddie Thomson, said after: "It was a terrible match to watch and we lacked imagination. Westad did their job and did it well. The onus was on us to bust them. I only wish I had available for selection, Paul Kay and Kenny Boden.

"It would have been a different story had they played."

SYDNEY CITY: Pezzano; Souness, O'Connor, Robertson, Cant; Watson, Gomez, de Marigny, Barnes; Kosmina, Murray.

WEST ADELAIDE: Sproul; Papazoglou, Dunn, Hiern, McGregor; Atsalas, Brennan, Doorne, Stamatalopoulos; Heys, Brown.

ROUND UP

LIONS THROW AWAY POINTS

BY GREG RUSSELL

BRISBANE LIONS once again showed its happy knack of throwing away much needed points by drawing 1-1 with Leichhardt at Richlands Stadium.

Lions led from the 64th minute but conceded the equaliser with only five minutes to go.

So many times in recent weeks Lions have had victory within their grasp only to throw it away in the last minutes.

The struggling Brisbane side led against Wollongong but lost to the match in the last five minutes; led against Footscray but also went down 2-1 and a fortnight ago, had Brisbane City on their knees but failed to finish them off by missing chances in the dying stages.

Although Lions desperately needed the three points from this match, a draw was a fair result after Leichhardt's fighting comeback.

After a lifeless first half in which Leichhardt probably had the better of the limited number of chances, Lions' Danny Wright put the home side ahead 19 minutes into the second half with a brilliant individual goal.

Had the spectators who turned up to see Peter Sharne in the Leichhardt side been disappointed by his absence, they surely were compensated by Wright's goal — which he described as his best ever.

Substitute Clark Anderson played a delightful flick with his very first touch to give Wright a glorious run down the wing but the Young Soccerero was quickly penned into the corner by Leichhardt defenders, Mark Brown and Berti Mariani.

Wright seemed to be in a hopeless position but produced brilliant skills to beat both players then slot the ball past keeper Rob Parkes from an acute angle 12 metres out.

Lions had a number of chances shortly after the goal, the best falling to Calvin Daunt who bombed a far post header. But it was then the Leichhardt revival began. Although not aided by some decisions by referee Gordon Nicholson, Leichhardt stormed Lions' goal with well worked build-ups.

Their equaliser, however, came from one of the simplest things they tried. Peter Tredinnick played a long cross from the left and unmarked Tony Morsello, who had been unlucky not to score twice earlier, had the simple task of heading in from two metres.

LIONS: Beves, McClurg, Vasquez, Vincent, Niven, Hogg, R. Stewart, J. Stewart, Ogden (Anderson 60), Wright, Daunt.

LEICHHARDT: Parkes, Carter, Bertogna, Mariani, Brown, Butler, Bradley, Gray, Morsello, Tredinnick, De Ceglie.

ADELAIDE CITY REVIVAL CONTINUES

BY TOM MCKAIN

ADELAIDE CITY continued to rise from the ashes with a 1 - 0 win over title-challengers South Melbourne at Olympic Sports Field.

While the goal came from a penalty in the 34th minute when young striker Peter Rankin stumbled in the box then finished on top of goalkeeper, Peter-Laumets, who needed attention for three minutes, City fans were happy.

The spot kick by Neil Banfield, was treated with a roar worthy of a League title.

And while that shot was one of the very few by City, their supporters had at last seen raids aplenty and also more fight in the team than for weeks against interstate opposition.

With captain and full-back, Bugsy Nyskohus, again missing with a thigh injury, young Paul Shillabeer came in and played a blinder.

Midfielder Les Carter was also out, suspended, and Glenn Dods filled his role and destroyed like a gladiator.

It was this aspect of the match which upset South's coach, Len McKendry.

"Some of the tackles, in the first half in particular, were murder," he said.

"We changed our tactics in the second half and hemmed in City but the goals didn't come," he added.

But for a brilliant leap by goalkeeper, Willie McNally, to a free-kick by Carl Halford, which finished as a corner, it could have been 1-1.

McKendry said he did not want to discuss referees. City coach, Bobby Ferguson, made no apologies for his team's hard tackling.

"Why shouldn't we go in hard," he said. "That is the way we planned it; we got the three points and there was nothing vicious about our game."

Rankin ran riot all day in one of his best games, and the Australian born third generation, dinkie-die teenager, emerged as the hero of the home side.

Neville Flounders at the back along with Banfield, Shillabeer, and Phil Cole, charged into the Victorians in a fighting defensive formation.

Ken Murphy, along with Crino and Halford, worked hard to set up chances for front-runners Doug Brown and Charlie Egan, as did Alan Davidson; while Brown's neat touches looked impressive, the state of the pitch made it difficult for ball players.

ADELAIDE CITY: McNally; Cole, Dods, Shillabeer, Banfield, Flounders, Melta, Blair, Mullen, Villani, Rankin.

SOUTH MELBOURNE: Laumets; Russell, Davidson, Blair, Xanthopoulos, Halford, Murphy, Crino, Brown, Yzendoorn, Egan.

FANS CALL FOR COACH'S HEAD!

BY CON NIKOLOPOULOS

HEIDELBERG UNITED supporters went on a witch-hunt on Sunday afternoon after their team had been demoralised in a 4 - 1 defeat by the mighty Saints.

Exasperated Heidelberg fans demanded coach Ken Morton's instant dismissal, for as they claim, "He's responsible for the failure of the team in the championship so far."

This time last year, Heidelberg United were vying for a position in the top four so fans refuse to accept the fact their team is languishing at the foot of the table.

Frank Arok received the best gift for becoming a grandfather from his well-disciplined and efficiently-drilled team at Olympic Village.

"It is the best gift I could expect from the boys," emotional Arok commented. "The boys worked hard and I thank them for making this day a memorable one."

Saints dominated Heidelberg all day, with the exception of a 20 minute spell immediately after Toro's coming into the game. . . a rather amusing substitution that saw Heidelberg's best player Mike Petersen, going off the field.

St George clung to its lead from 15 minutes when Barton slammed the ball into the net with a powerful volley.

Heidelberg reacted positively and managed to level the score eight minutes later from a solo run by Jimmy Campbell.

Campbell burst forward, evaded a number of tackles and beat Terry Greedy from close-range with a waist-high shot.

St George refused to surrender and kept pushing from the flanks with Robbie Slater and David Skeen constantly carrying the ball forward, while the veteran Dez Marton was creating havoc in the middle of the park with his tremendous skills and accurate ball distribution.

It was Marton who engineered St George's second goal.

Marton beat Soccerero sweeper, Charlie Yankos on the touchline and crossed the ball inside the box where unmarked Paul Wilkinson flashed home a perfect header.

Heidelberg lost composure after St George had grabbed the lead and committed a number of defensive mistakes, one of which enabled the Saints to increase the margin in the 37th minute.

Young Peter Petkovski, playing his third full game for the Saints, exploited the momentary hesitation by Yankos and McKie to clear the ball and smashed it into the net giving the Saints a 3-1 lead at half-time.

Heidelberg tried desperately to level the game in the second half but had no effective reply to St George's determination and fighting spirit.

Once again, Heidelberg's strikers, squandered a glut of scoring opportunities, much to the disenchantment of their disgruntled fans.

The arrival of Juan Toro in the 60th minute helped Heidelberg gain some composure in the midfield, but he did not receive enough support from his team-mates.

The magic of Dez Marton once again contributed to St George's fourth goal. Marton exchanged the ball quickly with Slater and found himself at the end of that exchange, beat two defenders and placed the ball in the net.

HEIDELBERG UNITED: Kardamitsis; McKie, Tansey, Spanos, McLeod, Yankos, Petersen (Toro 60), Selemidis, Cole, Lea, Campbell.

ST GEORGE: Greedy; Skeen, Ratcliffe, M. O'Shea, R.O'Shea, Barton (Stone 85), Petkovski, Wilkinson, J. O'Shea, Marton, Slater.

BY KEITH GILMOUR

NEWCASTLE'S biggest enemy in their 1-1 draw with Marconi at Marconi Stadium was the winding bus trip to Sydney, according to KB coach Ken Kaiser.

"Three hours bus ride to Sydney churns up the players. We will be doing it regularly next season and it cuts into our performance," he said.

"We travel to Melbourne by air, have a snack on the way, and all the boys are relaxed for the game."

If the NSL could afford air fares Newcastle-Sydney return, Kaiser reckons it could be the difference between winning a championship and narrowly missing out.

But Kaiser wasn't the only coach on the day to have a bit of a gripe after an excellent game.

Marconi's Doug Collins was unhappy over Newcastle's goal.

David Lowe released his pass at the right moment to put Bernard Kerby through to score and the crowd howled for offside.

The video seems to show that he was, but referee Doug Rennie ruled otherwise and that was that.

Marconi seemed certain to start the scoring as early as the sixth minute. Vic Bozanic sent Rod Brown streaming through the middle and Gary Watson didn't have the ghost of a chance of catching him.

When a goal seemed absolutely certain, Clint Gosling came out to make a remarkable save with both legs.

Actually Gosling must make a speciality of these saves as he denied Steve Winn a goal at a similar stage in the second half.

In the 10th minute Kerby had a great chance but he failed to settle and toed the ball past the upright.

The pattern soon emerged of chance upon chance to either team.

Marconi recorded their equaliser after a piece of brilliant play that started in midfield with Tom Sermann sending Rene Licata on his way along the left.

He extricated himself from the attention of two defenders whilst hemmed in by the goal-line and got his cross away to the far post.

In a near-miraculous effort, Rod Brown got his forehead to the ball just as Gosling was about to grasp it and it was in the back of the net.

Marconi had somewhat the better of the second half which featured attack upon attack at either end.

There was quite a list of heroes in the game. Both sets of central defenders, Tony Henderson and Ricky Budini on one hand and Peter Burke and Gary Watson on the other were extremely sound.

In less than a minute of extra time Bob Mountford missed what could have been the winner with a header that should have gone in from substitute Ian Buckley's cross.

MARCONI: James, Djordjevic, Bozanic, McCulloch, Henderson, Budini, Carbone, Sermann, Brown, Winn, Licata (Jankovics 79).

NEWCASTLE: Gosling, Maier, Tredinnick, Mason, Burke, Watson, Senkalski, Mountford, Lowe, Jones (Buckley 76), Kerby.

SIX U15 TEAMS BUT NSW TOPS

BY DON BALMAIN

THE UNDER 15 Women's Australian Championships were held in Canberra on the O'Connor Oval fields with the first games getting under way at 9.30 on the Saturday morning.

This is the second occasion on which the titles have been held — the inaugural tournament being hosted by Victoria last year.

Teams competing this year were Victoria, NSW, Nthn NSW, Sth Qld, WA and ACT.

Northern NSW were drawn against the host side, ACT, in the first way against Western Australia.

They were contained by the Westerners and could not break away as they did on the first day. The score was 1-0 for the North.

Game three saw a determined ACT up against NSW.

For this game, NSW stood off three of its best match.

Johnny Warren entertained all teams at his Soccer Academy at Gold Creek homestead during their stay in Canberra.

After feeding the multitude, he demonstrated basic skills and showed videos of matches.

The final day of the carnival saw ACT playing Victoria in the first game.

ACT was first to score with a good goal halfway through the first period. It was not until late into the second half that Victoria equalised. The match finished 1-1.

WA took on the Sth Queensland side in the second last game of the tournament. Although Queensland put the Westerners under a lot of pressure and had several chances, they were unable to score until the last few minutes of the second half.

Inexperience of the Western Australia girls let them down in this game. The team was chosen from club sides and did not have the advantage of other States where regular under 15 representative games are played.

Queensland won 1-0. Tension had been building through the morning for the two NSW sides.

Nthn NSW and NSW were on equal points before this game and both sides were fast breaking with good sharp attacking forwards.

NSW went into the break one up after an excellent display of thinking football.

After a Nthn NSW defender hand-balled in the box and foiled a certain goal, nerves took over and the penalty kick was missed.

It was not until the last 20 minutes of the second half that NSW showed their superior fitness when they banged in two more quick goals.

The match (3-0) and the Championship was won by NSW.

Referee of the final game, Jon van der Lende, the State coach of the ACT referees division, said after the game that he was very impressed with the standard of the girls especially in the young age group.

After the game, an elated Leonie Parker, coach of NSW, told me the girls had obeyed everything that had been told to them and with the training films they had seen each morning before their games, they were 'JUST THE GREATEST'.

Leonie, incidentally, was the only female coach at the championships. She is a badged coach and a qualified referee.

game and showed they would be the team to beat.

The side were very sharp and fast in attack. They had no difficulty in turning in a superior performance to soundly win 5-0.

Western Australia, in their first attempt at the title, were very tentative. It was not until halfway through the first half that Victoria scored.

After their initial session of nerves, the Westerners settled down and although the game was end-to-end, the Vics had to be content with the lone goal.

The third game of the day was between Sth Queensland and NSW.

This was the best of the day, with a 1-1 draw the result.

The Waratah side had it their own way in the first half but after the break, Sth Queensland picked up a little to contain their opponents.

Northern NSW played Victoria in the fourth game and whilst appearing to be slightly on top, it was not until their second goal, a penalty against Victoria for hand ball, that Victoria played negative football.

The remaining two games were between Sth Qld and ACT and NSW and Western Australia.

South Queensland were slightly the better team right through and after scoring their goal, held a determined Canberra team to finish at 1-0.

Newcomers, WA were defeated 2-0 by NSW in a match that did not reach great heights.

Victoria took on Sth Qld in the first game of day two and with two games under their belts, looked a different side altogether. The Victorians took the game 3-1.

Northern NSW did not have things their own

IMPROVING

PETER SHARNE'S comments on the declining standards of Australian Soccer, as reported in your last issue made me chuckle. Any close follower of the game will tell you that the standard of Australian-bred young players is increasing each year. A few years back, highly-skilled and brainy locally produced players like Abonyi and Warren were genetic rejects.

This year, in the NSL and the Youth League, we are starting to see the fruits of better coaching, better competition and the existence of the much maligned Australian Institute of Sport, where Soccer is the only major football code represented.

As many young players are new to NSL settle in, the form vagaries experienced by some of the clubs will be ironed out and overall standards further improved.

What stands in the way of the NSL is partly of Soccer's own making.

The disarray Soccer projects is not only reflected in the media, but in the minds of media managers and politicians and allows those with vested interests in other codes to justify unfair discrimination against Soccer.

The Cricket Ground fiasco during the World Youth Cup; the Leichhardt Oval affair; the general treatment of Soccer by the ABC, the coverage by Channel 7 of the recent England internationals all suggest that the administrators, followers and thousands of practitioners of the round ball have little political credibility in this country. Thomas A Havas O'Connor, A.C.T.

GUARANTEE

AS a regular reader of your paper I find the endless search for ways and means of improving the game, embarked upon by so many of your scribes and subscribers, sometimes amusing, sometimes thought-provoking, sometimes logically thought out and discussed, but very seldom simple enough to enable quick action or adoption.

Always there is the traditionalist viewpoint that the basic game should not be changed to accommodate the modern participant.

However there is one avenue that I have never seen explored, a theory that stands up to the most stringent of analysis and in fact the only way that more goals can be GUARANTEED in the game no matter where it is played in the world.

A statistical examination of Soccer leagues in any given competition will show a definite pattern. As the standard of Soccer improves, so does the number of goals scored per match drop. Therefore, our top league, the national competition, has the least number of goals scored per match in Australia. Obviously the better a player, the better the teamwork, and with modern coaching placing heavy emphasis on teamwork, the less number of errors being made and so less goals.

If we accept that today's coaching methods are better preparing players and teams to play the game, we should accept that something should be changed to make it harder for them to play it. It has long been accepted by coaches that it is easier to teach players to defend than attack and there is little doubt that the statistical picture tells us that the higher the standard the better the defences of teams.

The goal area being defended by goalkeeper and defence has remained unchanged since the game began. Due to tactics, fitness and commitment, that 24 feet x 8 feet target has over the years become "smaller and smaller" in the eyes of the poor player who in turn the public look to score the goals.

What would happen were the target increased by one foot in either direction? The possibilities are endless but one definite emerges; every ball that strikes the posts or bar would go in. More goals guaranteed. For the cost of six pieces of pipe and a few hours work, more goals. It would be harder for defenders to execute their "defence in depth" easier for strikers to "hit the target," but the main thing is that without great upheaval in the rules or field markings, the paying public would get what they crave, more goals.

Jim Binnie, Brisbane.

COACHING

RECENTLY I read in your publication of "Long-Term Coaching Program" instituted by Ku-Ring-Gai District Soccer Assoc.

I can see great merit in this program and hope that you can continue to publish more coaching ideas for juniors.

Possibly in more detail with a page devoted to junior tips from senior players and coaches, eg, Joe Watson, Marshall Soper, Peter Sharne, Casey De Bruin, Rale Rasic & Tommy Docherty to mention a few.

Then hopefully more coaches and districts will see the need for better coaching programs for juniors.

NOT GUILTY!

I have read Tom Anderson's report on the Sydney City v Leichhardt game. Mr Anderson over-reacted on certain points and neglected to write the real story of what happened. He claims the following. We (City supp.) went over to incite a riot, six against 200, I ask you, that is suicide. We did not call them wogs, use obscene language outside the dressing room or spray beer on the Leichhardt supporters.

We City supporters just wanted to chant for our team singing songs such as "CITY, CITY" and "CHAMPIONS, CHAMPIONS".

It was the Leichhardt supporters who stormed the dressing room, and threw the first punch. They started the language by calling us names and picked up a bench outside the dressing room and attacked us with it. No racism exists here and we had no intention of causing trouble to anyone.

Is it such a crime, to actually sing for, and support, your team? If this is so, then Australian football is on its way downhill, very fast.

Annoyed, City Supporter.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

SOCCER is a family affair with the Gladesville Ravens Division 1 team in the Gladesville-Hornsby Women's Football Association.

Among the members of the team are two pairs of sisters and an aunt-niece combination.

(PHOTO) L. to R.: Gai and Kerri Hillyard of Ryde, and Pam Harris and Margaret Rexstraw of Gladesville, who participate together with that special understanding that sisters share. Janice Owen keeps a watchful aunt's eye on her niece Pauline Bain, while Pauline's mother Margaret Bain does the chores as team manager.

In addition, six of the girls in the team have younger sisters playing with the Ravens Under-14 and Under-16 teams.

There is no doubt about the topic of conversation at the Sunday night dinner table in these homes. Perhaps this family unity is the reason why the Ravens have followed their success in 1982 by once again placing two teams into grand finals.

Although the club is relatively new to women's Soccer, the depth of talent is already impressive.

Bobby McGinn in Apia days

BOBBY MCGINN was always a solid full-back in his days with Apia and many people were surprised when he dropped down a class to play in the NSW State League.

McGinn, however, is still doing his stuff. After six weeks on the injured list, he made a magnificent comeback to first grade when Melita Eagles beat Kuringai 3-0.

"McGinn didn't put a foot wrong in 90 minutes playing as sweeper," said Melita president Emmanuel Said.

ONE night last week, the NSW Federation executive discussed the proposed 24-team National League plan.

On the same night, the Victorian Federation discussed the proposed 24-team National League plan!

There was a telephone hook-up between Sydney and Melbourne that night.

ADELAIDE CITY could have a guest star from Italy next season.

He is an 18 year old striker — no name at this stage — who is with a Second Division team but is about to sign with A.C. Milan.

He has relations in Adelaide, and friends are hoping he will agree to a sponsorship deal which could see him here for two months in 1984.

TOMMY McCULLOCH and Paul Daley were honoured recently by the Mayor of Blacktown, Ald Lynch, with a reception for their efforts in making the Australian World Youth squad to Mexico.

Both of these Young Champions are Mt Druitt boys, and much of their early Soccer was with the Lethbridge Rangers Club.

At the reception, Tommy and Paul were presented with lovely engraved goblets.

ON McCulloch and Daley, there are another two coming through the ranks.

Young Trevor Daley has been chosen in the State Under 14s for National Championships in Brisbane, and George McCulloch scored the winner for Marconi's Under 16s in the Youth League Metropolitan Championship against Sydney Olympic.

So Marconi and Melita have good, strong, future connections.

STEFAN KAMASZ is under fire from officials of the NSW Soccer Federation.

The Federation was very angry about statements from NSL secretary Kamasz which appeared in Sydney's Daily Telegraph.

Kamasz was quoted: "Contrary to the spirit shown by other State Federations, NSW is acting in an irresponsible manner. The political manner in which NSW is going about things, makes Joh Bjelke Petersen look like a schoolboy."

The Telegraph story was about the proposed new 24-team NSL.

WORD has it that long-time top ACT club Juventus — or West Woden Juventus to give it its full title — have purchased a former Rules club — the Hibiscus.

It went, apparently, for a remarkably cheap price. Now the club intends to open quickly and make a success of the venture.

SYDNEY Olympic star Jim Patikas has turned his back on trials with overseas clubs during the off season.

Despite the offers, he has decided to take a well earned break from football during our summer months.

"I need a rest," he said.

This is one player with his head screwed on.

IT was a story of "back to full training" for Sydney City's Ian Souness last week.

The previous week, newly-wed Souness was excused training because he was on his honeymoon.

"Ian didn't play well against Leichhardt," said coach Eddie Thomson. "I think he had the honeymoon blues or something."

Paul Wormley visa running out

PAUL WORMLEY, West Adelaide striker who was told he "was no longer required by the club" is now in Melbourne.

He has 10 days to find a new club before his visa runs out and he has to return to England.

IT APPEARS likely that Bob Mountford and Ian Buckley will be heading for the shores of England to try and gain places in lower division sides.

It is doubtful if either will be included in Newcastle KB United's team building plans for next season.

GOALS by Peter Burke and Ian Buckley carried Newcastle KB United through to the final of the Westbury Cup in a 2-nil thriller over West Wallsend.

KB will meet Adamstown, who won on a penalty count against Weston in the other semi-final, tonight (Tuesday) at Cardiff.

Without Ralph Maier and David Lowe, both out with ankle injuries, Newcastle were hard pressed to hold a top class West Wallsend side. Former KB players John Sneddon and Grant Storey were outstanding for the losers.

GARY Sproul, who has displaced Martyn Crook as first choice goalkeeper for West Adelaide, may not be in the NSL next season.

He is a Croatia player, and only on loan to West who will have to come up with a hefty transfer fee if they want to retain the former West Ham keeper.

JOHN VLIETSTRA, secretary of Wollongong Wolves, was quoted recently saying his club was the last in the NSL to increase admission charges to $5.

Not so, says a supporter of Newcastle KB United, who phoned ASW.

"Like Wollongong, Newcastle is suffering a depression caused by unemployment," he said. "We decided to keep our price at $4 because so many people here are very hard up."

THRASHED — BUT STILL SMILING

THRASHED 7-0 in their very first "friendly" against NSW, the newly-formed ACT Secondary Schools Girls team isn't despondent.

The girls' aim is to effect rapid improvement — under the guidance of Canberra Arrows' player Ian Gibson (that's him third from the left, middle row) who has taken over coaching the squad.

As a High School sports teacher and pro Soccer player, they couldn't have picked anyone more suitable for the job.

The very fact that Canberra now has its own secondary school girls' team reflects the remarkable growth of the round ball code in ACT High Schools — and colleges — in the past couple of years.

The ACT School Authority's sports co-ordinator, Peter Weddell, has confirmed the growth — very particularly amongst the fairer sex.

"More and more girls each year want to play Soccer," he said.

Picture was taken during a Canberra Arrows-sponsored get-together for the girls, and boys, secondary school squads. The boys' team will this year compete for the first time in years in the Australian Secondary Schools Championship for the Commonwealth Bank Cup in Brisbane next week.

SOCCER: A CAPITAL

WHAT is the go-ahead sport in A.C.T. secondary schools? The answer — Soccer, according to A.C.T. Schools Authority sports co-ordinator, Peter Weddell.

So much so that there are now six separate competitions in the various age groups.

In most, eight High schools — or colleges in the national capital for year 11 and 12 students — are competing.

"The growth rate is encouraging," said Mr Weddell. "So is the enthusiasm."

"This is particularly so with girls and I must say the growth in Soccer has been at its most dramatic with High school girls."

"So many want to play, their all-girl competitions are flourishing."

Solid proof of the growth rate, surely encouraging to all Soccer fans, is Canberra's participation in this year's Australian Secondary School Championships (boys' teams) — and the very first A.C.T. Secondary School Open Age Girls team.

Canberra's boys' team, in preparation for this year's finals in Brisbane from August 29 to September 2, recently took on NSW at Canberra's Bruce Stadium.

And the girls — as an additional attraction — played the NSW girls secondary school team.

The result was two victories for NSW, 2-0 in the boys and 7-0 for the girls.

The boys' game was close. The girls' team was only put together close to the game and had only two training sessions.

Their unpaid coach, incidentally, is Canberra Arrows front-runner Ian Gibson — himself a teacher at Campbell High School.

Said David Sheridan, a teacher at Holder High School and the manager of the ACT team for the national titles: "The boys did well."

"This is the first time we have competed in the championships for many years. We have a strong team which, with training, is going to improve rapidly."

A big advantage to

GAME

Canberra is that it can — and does — have access to crack interstate players now attending high school or college in Canberra, players like Victoria's Darren White and Warren Spink and Queensland's Mark Boyd.

All three are members of the AIS squad and are students at Canberra's Dickson College.

Back to Mr Weddell. "We are now distributing a weekly draw to the various High schools in Soccer. I can only see the sport getting bigger."

"Apart from the regular school competitions we even have a weekly additional round-robin competition which the students play after school hours."

To show their keenness — it is costing each boy $273 to get to Brisbane for the titles — they ran a huge kick-a-thon at the Bruce TAFE with various kids backed for various amounts of goals.

TANNER SUCCESS

THE A. S. Tanner Tournament was held on Queen's Birthday Weekend. It is a yearly event set up in memory of the late A. S. Tanner, former Secretary of the St George Soccer Association. This year was the third year it was staged. Entries are from U11 representative teams from all over NSW.

This year the competing districts were Western Districts, Southern and Eastern, Illawarra, Sutherland, Canterbury, Nepean, Blacktown, Gladesville/Hornsby, St George and Southern Districts.

The teams were divided into two groups. On the Sunday of the holiday weekend a Round Robin competition was held for these two groups with the three top teams from each of these groups progressing to compete in the Tanner Trophy, a K.O. competition. The remaining two teams from each of these groups entered in a K.O. competition called the Consolation Cup.

The six teams that made it through in the Tanner Trophy were Southern and Eastern, Illawarra, Gladesville/Hornsby, St George, Canterbury and Blacktown.

Southern and Eastern were undefeated in their division and Blacktown had a bye so both teams progressed to the quarter-final, together with Gladesville/Hornsby who defeated Illawarra and St George who defeated Canterbury.

In the semi-final, Southern and Eastern defeated Gladesville/Hornsby and Blacktown defeated St George.

The Final was contested between Blacktown and Southern and Eastern with Blacktown winning 2-1.

CAPTAIN SOCCEROO

WITH JOHNNY WARREN

Here is the NSW Secondary Schools team for the National titles. They beat ACT in a warm up game 2-0 and their goals were scored by Ali Reda and Nick Papas. Given the strength of Canberra with three AIS players plus Hummel in the squad it was a great win.

NSW CHS ROUND-UP

RECENTLY the NSW CHS U19 side visited Canberra to play against the ACT schools.

The game was played at the excellent Canberra TAFE ground.

The NSW CHS side won 2-0 with goals from Ali Reda and Darren Nees. But the ACT side showed that with the inclusion of the AIS boys they will be a force at the ASSF titles in Brisbane.

ON August 10, the NSW CHS U19 side played their annual fixture against the NSW Independent Schools.

It was an excellent game with both sides playing attacking Soccer.

The Independent Schools side soaked up a fair amount of pressure but they must have been pleased with the 2-2 result. Goalscorers for CHS were Nees and Puelic.

Outstanding player for Independent Schools was Jones.

IT APPEARS that players competing in the ASSF championships in Brisbane will really have an incentive!

An Australian Schools Select side will be chosen to play the AIS on Sunday, September 4 in Brisbane.

MELBOURNE MOVES SPARKS CONFIDENCE

MELBOURNE, the once great Australian champions, are looking ahead with confidence as the Hungarian-sponsored Metropolitan League division one club, prepare to move to Williamstown next year.

According to secretary Bill Hargitay "while there is another division above us we are not happy."

Bill wants his club back on top. And the way the committee have gone about planning their future is looking good.

"We are near to promotion now," said Bill in an exclusive ASW interview.

"The youth of Williamstown is untapped and we have always been known for our interest in juniors."

The Williamstown Council supports the club and they decided to go there because there is no Soccer in the area.

"Our new ground is at J.T. Gray Reserve, Koroirit Creek Road, and it will open next year in time for the 1984 season.

"We are thinking of re-naming the club Melbourne West Gate but that will be decided later.

"We will probably keep our two grounds at Middle Park and our junior ground at Elwood.

Mr Andy Kun, a patron of the VSF and also a former Melbourne club executive, said "The club has a plan which has been accepted by Williamstown council. It includes a grand stand and it will be built in stages.

"We hope to build the first stage this year and finish it next season."

The Melbourne club have a fine striker in Danny Ward, who comes from Manchester in England. Ritchie Armstrong, 19, plays as a twin striker with Ward and has had a great season in the finishing department.

Others in the team include stoppers Tibor Drinoczky and Simon Gaszmann, goalie Ernie Toth, a Victorian junior representative.

Sweeper John Bird has been with the club since 1978, is 26, and comes from Liverpool, England.

Youngest player is Ernie Tapai, 16, a midfielder with a great future.

One of the best players is Mark Dagnall, a 24 year-old full back from Liverpool, England.

Coach is Mike Lynn, who since joining the club from Maribyrnong Polonia a month ago has won the respect of the players.

George Calamino, from Argentina, is assistant coach.

HIP! HIP! HUGHIE

ALBION ROVERS coach Hughie Murney was last week given a vote of confidence by the players at the club reports GARY CUTLER.

Hughie took over the club at the start of the season from Frank Munro and was given the task of rebuilding.

The vote took place during a meeting at the club despite the problems the team had experienced this season and the fact that they have spent most of the season near the bottom of the State League.

"We lost some players at the start of the season and hadn't enough money to replace them.

"Joe Docherty and I recruited players from around but we have not had the breaks," said Hugh.

The club has had more bad luck recently with the injury to Eddie Gray, with players being suspended and injured throughout the season.

The new dressing rooms at the club should be completed by the end of the season and with the resurfacing of the pitch the facilities at the club will be on a par with any.

Eddie Gray

SUNTASTIC!

JOHN Hodgson, Metropolitan League chairman, describes Sunbury Soccer club as 'fantastic.'

John was a guest at the club's 10th anniversary celebrations last week.

"I can't find words to describe what they've done out there. It's a great credit to them," he said.

John was referring to the excellent facilities and superb playing pitch with lighting and sprinkler watering system the Metropolitan League club has installed.

Ten years ago Soccer didn't exist in the area. Now it is thriving thanks to the enterprise of the hard-working Sunbury committee who have some of the best social rooms in the State.

McCANN TO STAY

SUNSHINE George Cross midfielder Hugh McCann has recently been granted permanent residence by the Immigration department.

This is a boost to the club as they now have only four visa players remaining and there is a chance another could become permanent.

President Alf Zahra

told me "It is good for the lads and for the club. We now have the chance to get below our quota and possibly bring out a top player.

"Although at this stage we are in no hurry we may consider it for next season.

TOO MUCH FOR TOO LITTLE

CLUBS ARE going broke because they pay players more than they deserve. That's the view of Dick Bosma, secretary of Latrobe Valley Soccer League.

Above Malcolm MacDonald and George Best (right)

He believes this is the reason why NSL clubs are in financial strife, not travelling expenses.

"The National League is successful, playing-wise.

"They're going broke like their counterparts in England because they are paying too much to players who are not worth it. "I call them overpaid, money-hungry has beens.

"If you sell a product which is good, the public will go for it. But if the product is inferior it is unwanted.

Clubs like South Melbourne have for years shown they have more money than sense and have nothing to show for it yet they get all the publicity.

"All our Soccer reporters do is criticise, or compare the game here with back home. One club sacks a coach and the next hires the same man. It's like a circus.

"Can't we get coaches at ground level to get hold of the better junior players and bring them up?

"It looks to me anybody from Britain is given a chance. Over the hill guest players with nothing to offer are made lucrative offers. "The import worth his salt was Malcolm Macdonald.

"He played well, pulled in the crowds, a true Soccer ambassador.

"Not many Soccer fans are interested in the booze and bed adventures of George Best, yet he dominated the news.

"Not an attractive example for our juniors.

"Another big laugh is the State Super League. How can you have a super league without super teams?

"Players show little or no interest in playing Soccer. If you can't get the ball simply lay out your opponent.

No one below State League and first division should be paid a red cent.

"We don't deserve to win the league.

"When you spend a quarter of a million dollars on a team you expect something better," said Joe.

THERE'S NO MINIS IN THIS BATTLE!

BY JOHN ECONOMOS

LEICHHARDT go into their battle with long-time rivals, Marconi, at the St George Stadium next Sunday seeking a replay of their first NSL encounter this year. For years, these giant Italian-sponsored clubs have been bitter rivals, and whenever they have clashed, interest has been at fever pitch.

In Round one, Leichhardt defeated Marconi 1-3, but Marconi coach, Doug Collins, maintains it will be a different story this time in the "Italian Job."

Collins told us: "Last time we met, we had many problems with our team. We had constant interruptions to our training squad as Marconi gave up four players to the World Youth team for the Mexico Finals."

"That is all behind us as we will have Rod Brown, Tommy McCulloch, Rene Licata and Joe Rizzotto on deck."

Collins added: "Don't worry about Marconi. The job I feel I have done with this new, young, team, is the best of my career."

"They are young, very eager, have plenty of talent and skills, and they only need seasoned experience. Just watch Marconi from next year. It will be the big team for the future, no doubt at all," Collins concluded.

At the moment, Marconi are showing a lot of potential and are certainly the best young team in the NSL.

With Brown, Rizzotto, McCulloch and Licata rapidly gaining senior experience with every match, together with the magnificent experience they all picked up playing in the "Junior" World Cup in Mexico, Marconi is ready to command respect from all corners of the NSL.

A feature of this match will be the vicious, deadly crosses from Marconi's outstanding WYC flankman, Licata. He has developed into a dangerous, electrifying player, and a consistent match-winner.

But meanwhile, Leichhardt's coach, Fil Bottalico, after a rocky start to the season, has his team tuned up well and picking up points regularly.

Little John Bradley, Leichhardt's outstanding player last year, has tucked a bag of goals under his belt this season, having hit the target 10 times.

Long-serving midfielder, Terry Butler, again has been performing well, controlling and enforcing everything from the central-midfield role.

But much interest will focus down Leichhardt's left side, as they will be armed with ex-Marconi winger, Peter "Rocket" Sharne.

The "Rocket" will be out to prove to his old club that they erred in hesitating to sign him up on his return from his Hong Kong stint.

Sharne's pace, experience and lightning crosses will have Marconi's Vic Bozanic working overtime.

But backing Sharne down the left, is one of the NSL's most underrated midfielders, Peter Tredinick.

"Treds" is a very hard working man in the Leichhardt side and an excellent feeder for Sharne and the ball-playing Tony Morsello, who scored a good goal last Sunday in Queensland.

To add more fuel to this expected fiery clash, is another ex-Marconi enforcer, Berti Mariani. Mariani, since joining Leichhardt, has had a new lease of life and has stiffened the Leichhardt back-four with his enormous experience.

A big crowd is expected next Sunday at the St George Stadium for this "Italian Job", and don't be surprised to see Michael Cain in the crowd!

Out in the parking lot, amongst all the Fiats and Alfas, look for a blue "Mini-Cooper S."

Referee for the match will be Tony Boskovic, the man called in for this BIG ONE.

IN THE earlier match at the St George Stadium Double Header Spectacular, the Saints take on Adelaide City and will be after maximum points again following their crushing victory over Heidelberg last Sunday in Melbourne

EXPECT A BAG OF GOALS

Saints' manager, Frank Arok, on arrival back in Sydney on Sunday night, told us: "We got a bag of goals down in Melbourne thank God. We have to supply plenty of goals to the Soccer fans, simply because that is what they pay money to see. Isn't it?"

The Saints scored four against the Victorians and will be looking for more against Adelaide City.

But Adelaide City will be out to make life very difficult for the Saints after having knocked off South Melbourne last Sunday in South Australia.

Young striker, Peter Petkovski, has fitted in nicely into the St George side, and again hit the target against Heidelberg last week-end.

Petkovski has now cracked in three NSL goals in three matches.

AROUND NEW SOUTH WALES

BIG GUNS DRAW

BEFORE a crowd of 8,550 people, Melita kept their Championship aspirations alive with a vital 1-1 draw against Croatia at King Tomislav Park.

Melita only had a very tenuous grip on the match in the final stages and all seemed lost before they snatched their equaliser goal with five minutes remaining.

The first half produced the most entertaining brand of constructive, attacking Soccer seen in NSW for many seasons.

Both sides never hesitated to push forward and on a number of occasions both goalkeepers pulled off brilliant saves to keep the scoresheet blank at the interval.

Croatia can feel disappointed with the result considering they dominated proceedings for the majority of the second half and looked to have secured the points.

A vital tactical ploy from Melita coach, Raul Blanco, with minutes remaining, saw him bring on Farnsworth and this young striker was largely responsible for the equaliser.

After Croatia scored four minutes into the second half, Melita lost their edge remarkably. Croatia always looked a threat in attack but fine goalkeeping from Alex McPherson kept the Eagles in the game.

But Melita did apply a barrage of pressure on the Croatia goal early in the game. Attempts by Cross and Griffith in the 6th and 11th minutes respectively just missed the crossbar.

Croatia responded with delicate and crisp attacking movements. Some early crosses from Rezo tested the Melita keeper, McPherson, and in the 22nd minute a Rezo cross was almost slotted into goal by Arnold's outstretched boot. Melita breathed a sign of relief when it rolled past, just out of his reach.

Croatia struck again midway through the first half with one of the best movements of the game. Lead up work from Marijan Kovacic, Savor and Hensman found Arnold. His close range cannonball on the turn was superbly tipped over the crossbar by McPherson.

Moments later Woods latched onto a through ball from Hensman, crossed to Arnold who squared the ball for Savor. A hard working McPherson saved Savors powerful drive.

In the 32nd minute, Hensman put Savor through on the right and his low shot hit the post and was cleared for a corner.

Melita struck back when McKie skilfully nodded on a Griffith cross from the by-line but Watson was equal to the task with a fine diving save for Croatia.

The second half may not have produced as many goalscoring opportunities but Croatia looked more threatening and had the edge after their well taken goal in the 49th minute.

A corner from Silva on the right side was nodded forward by Woods and with his back pointed towards the goal, Arnold turned and planted the ball past McPherson.

Melita lost their cohesion after this goal and their attempted forward attacking movements broke down in the mid-field or were blotted out by Croatia's Marijan Kovacic and Rezo.

Croatia, content with the one goal advantage, played a restrictive game for the last 20 minutes instead of maintaining pressure as they had so effectively done before hand.

Consequently Melita's persistence paid off and they were rewarded with the equaliser five minutes before the end of the game.

Farnsworth made a veering run on the right side, cut in-field slightly, and sent a looping shot at goal. Watson mishandled the shot and McKie followed through to put the loose ball in the net.

For Croatia Vidaic was unbeatable in the air, Rezo and Savor were creative and Arnold was a all-ways a threat up front.

Melita were best served by McPherson in goal. Cross continually pushed forward on the left side, Griffith displayed flashes of brilliance in parts and Allan worked tirelessly in attack.

Melita coach Raul Blanco was slightly upset about the result.

"We needed the two points but the Championship race is still very open. Croatia relaxed in the last part of the game and we brought the game to them with the end result being the equaliser."

"The first half was magic. It was a clean game and overall I think Soccer is the winner," Blanco said.

CROATIA: Watson, A.Kovacic, Tomasic, Woods, Sterrey, Vidaic, Rezo, Savor, Arnold, M.Kovacic, Hensman (Silva 45).

MELITA: McPherson, Williams (Farnsworth 76), Cross, McGinn, Daley, Griffith, Duarte, McAusland, Allan, Farnsworth, McKie.

GOALS: Croatia (Arnold 49), Melita (McKie 85).

AUBURN ASCENT

AUBURN climbed from the bottom of the table with a decisive 2-1 win over Yugal at Mona Park. This win puts them one point ahead of Bankstown and the battle between these sides in the last round will determine which team finishes 'wooded spooners' for the 1983 season.

Auburn fought hard to avoid that dubious honour against Yugal and the game exploded in the last six minutes play when all three goals were scored. Previous to this flurry of play, chances were created by both sides but either good goalkeeping from Auburn's Bowman and Yugal's Berry or poor finishing kept the scoresheet at 0-0.

Martinez was brought onto the field in the 75th minute to add some extra spark to the Auburn attack and he was heavily involved in both his team's goals.

In the 84th minute he intercepted a square ball from Clarke and planted it past Berry.

Two minutes later Kilkelly passed the ball to Martinez. He held it up and crossed to the unmarked Allan on the far post who drove it into goal.

With seconds remaining, Yugal scored their consolation when Jesic made a skilful raid down the right flank and his cross was slotted into goal by Pahor.

AUBURN: Bowman, Kelly, Prgomelja, Planinic, Johnston, Lee (Martinez 75), Kilkelly, Quigley, Kinsey, Bobinac (Allen 58), Carney.

YUGAL: Berry, Gogic, Forrester, McIntosh, Clarke, Pahor, Jesic, Turkoglu, Baumgartner, Zivkovic, Tanoski.

GOALS: Auburn (Martinez 84, Allen 86), Yugal (Pahor 89).

LARKIN SPARKS DEMONS

BLACKTOWN City maintained their momentum for the for the semi-final play-offs with a resolute 3-0 win over Bankstown at the Gabbie Stadium.

Larkin displayed his ability to attack with two well-taken goals for the Demons.

This defeat places Bankstown at the bottom of the table for the first time this year following Auburn's 2-1 victory over Yugal.

The first half was fairly even with the Demons showing creating the greater share of goal-scoring chances.

Blacktown hit the lead in the 32nd minute when Thornthwaite crossed the ball from the by-line to McLaughlin, who squared it to Larkin. Larkin's cracking drive clipped the underside of the crossbar and bounced into goal.

Seconds before the break, Agostino could have equalised for Bankstown when he found himself free with only Blacktown goalkeeper to beat. But the experienced Hoare was equal to the task with a brave save.

The Demons went further ahead in the 61st minute. A drive from Larkin was blocked by the defence and Stoddart's rebound attempt was again absorbed by the backline but Larkin was on hand to smash it home at the third attempt.

Brogan sealed the issue for the Demons after he slammed the ball into the back of the net following good lead-up work from O'Shana.

BLACKTOWN: Hoare, Brogan, Rassmussen, Wheatley, Turnbull, Selvage, Stoddart, Davies, Thornthwaite (Quarmby 69), McLaughlin, Larkin (O'Shana 75).

BANKSTOWN: S.Giffin, Kennedy, Vaughan, King, J.Giffin, Parker (York 75), Bourke, Agostino, Silines (Beck 75), Blackburn, Dalton.

GOALS: Blacktown (Larkin 32, 66, O'Shana 86)

John Larkin: one of the up coming youngsters at Blacktown City.

A LATE RALLY SINKS SHARKS

SUTHERLAND moved back into the top four following a disappointing 1-1 draw with Polonia at King Tomislav Park.

Sutherland created many goal scoring opportunities but poor finishing and lack of finesse in front of goal let them down.

They took the lead midway through the first half after Groome confidently drove the ball into goal.

Early into the second half, Beggs crossed the ball to the unmarked Terrey but his attempt, with the goal at his mercy, hit the woodwork. Moments later Beggs latched onto a through ball, rounded the Polonia 'keeper, Barker, and his sidefoot attempt at the open goal was scrambled off the line.

Polonia scored the equaliser with seconds remaining. A cross from the left flank was parried against the crossbar by Haynes and Thomas was on hand to score.

SUTHERLAND: Haynes, Hesford, Dal Forno, Terrey, Schuman, Groome, Harrington, Clinch, Johnston, Beggs, Watkins.

GOALS: Sutherland (Groome), Polonia (Thomas).

TWO SENT OFF, SIX BOOKED

INTER-MONARO and Ku-Ring-Gai battled to a 1-1 draw in a hard and physical encounter at Marco Polo Oval.

No fewer than six yellow and two red cards were awarded during the game. Both teams realised the importance of gaining two points in this match but disappointingly the only colour and brightness displayed came from the referee's cards.

Yellow cards were shown to Kevern, Berry and Leak (Ku-Ring-Gai) and Charles, Francis, and Colbertaldo (Inter-Monaro). Both sides were reduced to 10 men in the 87th minute after Ku-Ring-Gai's Brockbank and Monaro's Domazetovich were sent from the field.

Ku-Ring-Gai took the initiative and scored the first goal in the 44th minute. From a free-kick awarded against Monaro defender Francis, Eaton skilfully curled the ball around the wall and past the desperate diving attempt from Hocking.

Inter-Monaro pushed forward in the second half and scored their equaliser in the 65th minute. Once again from a free-kick, Willox was on hand to head it home.

Monaro continued to push forward but in the dying stages the woodwork foiled them twice.

INTER-MONARO: Hocking, Leith, Charles, Santolin, Francis, Willox, Duvnjak (Andrakow 45), Lawler, Domazetovich (SO 87), Arquero, Colbertaldo.

KU-RING-GAI: Curtis, Kevern, Berry, Bertram, Robertson, Knight, Leak, Brockbank (SO 87), Regan, McKegan, Eaton.

GOALS: Inter-Monaro (Willox 65), Ku-Ring-Gai (Eaton 44)

SUTHERLAND SHIRE, a club that proudly boasts one of the biggest junior Associations in Australia, have one local product who has been a consistent starter in first grade for the past three seasons.

Meet Brandt Cashman. At only 21, Brandt has amassed a wealth of experience since his introduction to the first grade side in 1981. Like most young ambitious players, Brandt has been mixing a working career with his Soccer commitments. Employed with the Water Board as a trainee technician, he is studying at Sydney Technical College one afternoon and two nights as well as training three nights a week. A heavy program indeed.

He started his career with the Sylvania Heights club from 1967 to 1971. He changed clubs at the end of the season and played for Gwaley Bay for three years. Sutherland Shire were quick to realise his ability and he gained selection to their representative sides for three seasons.

From the U/16 Sutherland representative side he earned selection to the Sutherland third grade team. He played in the third grade competition for two seasons and at the beginning of 1981 was promoted straight into first grade.

During 1980 Brandt was selected in the NSW Schoolboys side, a team that proudly boasted Mark Koussas, Gary Philips (Sydney Olympic) and Ian Gray (Leichhardt). That team went on to become the Australian Schoolboy champions.

John Watkiss, first grade coach at Sutherland, is one of the first people to praise Brandt.

"Brandt Cashman is a valuable asset to the team. He can play mid-field, full-back or centre-back. He is a strong tackler, hard runner and is not afraid to beat players and ride a tackle," said Watkiss.

"Being a local product Brandt has been involved with the club and area for a long time. He has gained admiration and respect from everyone at the club for his dedication, attitude and consistent performances," Watkiss added.

I asked Brandt, being a versatile player, which position he prefers.

"I'd rather play right midfield as against any full-back position but I am happy to be anywhere in the team. Midfield gives you a chance to attack and it allows you to be more mobile in your movements," he said.

Having played in the NSW State League for three seasons Brandt has faced many hard opponents. "Blacktown City defender Robbie Wheatley is extremely hard to contain whenever he pushes forward. I remember how hard he was to control back in my junior days when we used to play against each other. He still is as consistent as ever."

"Peter Hensman of Croatia is a hard tenacious runner with the ball. He runs with speed and purpose and is difficult to push off the ball," Brandt said.

Brandt was quick to praise Sutherland and was unselfish in outlining his future ambitions in Soccer.

"I want to help Sutherland reach the Grand Final of the NSW State League competition this season. After that hopefully we will be accepted in the proposed new competition being drafted in NSW."

"I've spent all of my Soccer days in the Sutherland area and can't really compare other clubs with Sutherland. The officials, supporters and players are just tremendous. If we are battling and have problems everyone pulls together to overcome them," he added.

Since his introduction to the top grade Brandt has been heavily influenced by John Watkiss.

"He is one person with a wealth of experience and knowledge about the game. John always has the time to help you with any problems, personal or Soccer, and consistently pushes you to reach your goals and ambitions which no doubt will pay off in the long run."

Brandt Cashman is one player who can be proud of his career to date. Always striving to help his club and players, he is one player with the right personality and attitude to maintain the success he has achieved in the game he loves, Soccer.

THE GUNNERS RE-EMERGE

AFTER two years in the wilderness, the Eastern Creek Gunners S.C. is re-emerging as one of the leading clubs in the NSW Federation's lower divisions.

Having staved off relegation in 1982, the club, under the guidance of ex-Marconi midfielder, Ken Lindsay, proved to be the darkhorse in the Inter Urban 1 competition.

Since the club was founded in 1975, it has aspired to obtain full State League status.

With the support of Blacktown City Council, ground facilities are constantly being improved as well as the completion of the club's room at the ground.

In addition to its grade sides, the club this year fielded nine teams from Under 6 to All Age, and is confident that this figure will be surpassed in 1984.

The club was originally called "Namatjira", and enjoyed success under that name.

population expansion in the outer Western suburbs, the club has applied for a change in name to "Rooty Hill SC" thus embracing a larger district area.

In appointing men of the calibre of Ken Lindsay to club coach, the committee is determined to maintain a high playing standard as well as adding a touch of professionalism off the field.

Club scouts are already taking in local district games from Under 17s onwards, in an effort to ensure that youngsters in the area have every opportunity to realise their potential.

With the amount of effort being expended, success in 1984 would be a just reward.

BERRIES DRAW WITH PENALTY

AVALA and Cant-M'ville shared the points in a well fought 2-2 draw at Knight Park.

Both sides displayed a willingness to push forward and consequently four goals were scored.

With the scores locked at 2-2 and 15 minutes remaining, both sides pushed for the winner but solid defensive work at either end of the field thwarted them.

Avala hit the lead in the first minute when MacKenzie passed the ball to Fontana who, from 11 metres, made no mistake.

Laing equalised for the Berries in the 15th minute with a cracking 25 metre drive past the desperate diving attempt from Ahrens.

The Berries went behind in the 70th minute when Lembryk displayed his attacking skills for the home side and his fine solo run and subsequent 15 metre shot resulted in the equaliser for Avala.

In the 73rd minute Hantzis levelled terms from the penalty spot following a foul by Avala defender Vujnovic.

AVALA: Ahrens, Lembryk, C. MacKenzie, D. McKenzie, Vujnovic, Radojevic (Fernandez), Hosseini, Muniz, Fontana, Brown, DaSilva.

CANT-M'VILLE: El Zein, Antonopoulos, Hantzis, Tizzone, Palmer, Philipiou (Andreou), Laing, Vassiliou, Theodorakopoulos, Anagnostopoulos, Basterfield.

GOALS: Avala (Fontana 5, Lembryk 75), Cant-M'ville (Philipiou 15, Hantzis 70).

WESTON TOSS IN TOWEL

BY MYLES HAY

IT was a pack of Weston players who virtually handed over the major Northern NSW Soccer title to Central Coast when the Coalfield side suffered a shock 1-0 loss to Highfield Azzurri.

Central Coast lost only their second game of the season when beaten 1-0 by Adamstown the previous day leaving Weston only one point behind.

But there was a disjointed look about Weston's attacking ideas and a goal just before half-time by Tony Avelis carried Azzurri through to a creditable win.

Central Coast require only a draw from their remaining match against Azzurri next Sunday to clinch the title with Adamstown their only danger.

The Rosebuds meet Maitland in their last fixture and must win by a convincing margin to improve their inferior goal difference should Central Coast falter against Azzurri.

'ASSAULTED' AVALA MANAGER PROTEST

JACK CIRJANIC, manager of Avala Soccer Club Limited, has made a strong protest to the NSW Soccer Federation about an incident at King Tomislav Park on August 7.

On that day Avala played Croatia in a State League Ist Division match and Mr Cirjanic alleges Croatia did not comply with NSW Federation rules — to ensure the visiting teams and officials were protected from irate spectators.</

HE'S MY BROTHER!

NSW STATE LEAGUE Second Division Club Warringah-Narrabeen is certainly a family affair.

In the three grades, the Saints have seven sets of brothers, with three sets in both first and second grade.

First grade have Peter and Alan Dean, Chris and Mick Hanley, John and Mick McDonagh. The McDonagh's have another famous brother Jim, playing in the English First Division keeping goal for

Jim McDonagh

Notts County and the Republic of Ireland.

Warringah-Narrabeen president Ted Evers appears to be in favour of the idea. He has two sons playing third grade as does third grademanager Malcolm Herbert.

Second grade player Brett Beverly also has a footballing brother in Mark, playing a number of first, as well as second grade appearances for Warringah. But the two have not played together this season - because Mark plays for the "Green Rats", - Warringah Rugby Club!

SCORERS BATTLE

THE BATTLE for leading goalscorer is developing into very close duel. At present Nick Theodorakopoulos (Cant-M'ville) and Terry Smith (Manly) are equal leaders with 16 goals apiece. Croatia striker Graham Arnold is only one goal behind Terry Smith will find goals hard to come, playing against Ku-Ring-Gai at Parklands this Sunday and facing Inter-Monaro the following week at home. Nick Theodorakopoulos will hope to add to his tally against Auburn this week and repeat his first round effort against Sutherland (Nick scored two memorable goals that afternoon), the following week.

GREENACRE'S PROUD TRACK RECORD

THE Greenacre U/21 team playing the Bankstown Amateur Association have enjoyed success and remain undefeated this year.

Their record speaks for itself - undefeated premiers, minor premiers, President's Cup winners and the Statewide U/21 Robertson Cup competitions.

The team will now go on and represent the Bankstown Association in the Champion of Champions competition that commences on September 18. The players owe Western Suburbs Glass, their proud sponsors, a big thank you.

The club have pulled off a "coup" in having ex-Australian player Kevin Mullen coaching the team.

ILLAWARRA JOTTINGS

BY PHIL MURPHY

BALGOWNIE's Ian Lancaster scored an unusual goal in the game against Port Kembla recently.

Lancaster headed his goal from the halfway line.

The score was 1-1 when Lancaster sent a strong clearing header from halfway and it took the Port Kembla goalkeeper by surprise.

It bounced in front of him, went over his head and as he turned and chased it the ball rolled slowly over the line to give Balgownie an upset 2-1 win.

FERNHILL goalkeeper Justin Norris has finally called it a day.

The former Illawarra Soccer and Cricket representative has given in to a recurring back injury.

He gave up Soccer last season but thought the trouble had cleared up and made a successful comeback this year.

Norris regained his spot at the expense of current Illawarra 'keeper Alan Duncan.

Norris woke up one morning to find the back trouble had returned so he immediately told Fernhill officials he would no longer be available.

Fortunately for Fernhill, they still had Duncan in reserve grade to take his place.

COLEDALE, the small township between the mountain and the sea, has been celebrating in a big way recently.

The town's Soccer club ended a 29-year drought by winning premierships in first and reserve grade in the second division.

"It's the greatest thing to happen here since they put the electricity on," said club publicity officer Charlie Cheetham.

Coledale recruited six experienced players for their first grade side this year and it certainly paid off.

They were unbeaten in competition games and had a big margin to spare over the second team.

The reserves lost only one game, going down 3-2 to Wollongong Sports.

Cheetham said they have had some "top nights" celebrating the success and are now looking forward to cracking a few bottles of champagne after the grand finals.

John Broadhouse: scored a superb hattrick for Juventus

JUVENTUS, RAPID DRAW CLEAR

JUVENTUS-Pioneer and Rapid-Wrest Point have broken away from the field with three rounds remaining in Tasmania's Cadbury State League competition. They are four and three points, respectively, in front of third and fourth placed Olympia and Croatia-Glenorchy, observes "Van Diemen".

These four teams have now qualified for the 'final four' competition at the conclusion of the league program, while White Eagles is doomed to relegation.

Juventus thrashed White Eagles 7-0 with Bruce Ward and John Broadhouse each notching a hat-trick. Carlo Ambrosino got the remaining goal against a side that threw away its two scoring chances. Norman Stanton shot wide in the opening minute with the goal at his mercy and Andrew Leszczynski missed a penalty in the second half.

Olympia easily accounted for Croatia, winning 4-1 with Craig Nichols grabbing the weekend's third hat-trick. Peter Sherman scored the fourth with a stupendous drive from a free kick, while Billy Kirkpatrick scored Croatia's goal, also from a free kick.

Rapid stayed in touch with Juventus by virtue of a 1-0 win over Metro. Smith's clearing header in the 18th minute following a free kick only went as far as Thompson who nodded it straight back into the top corner of the net.

University raised a few eyebrows with its win over Caledonians, thus ensuring its own safety and sending White Eagles down in the process. Dave Forshaw scored the students' only goal early in the second half.

The Australian Institute of Sport team's weekend tour of Tasmania resulted in a win and loss for Jimmy Shouder's boys. The AIS lost 1-0 to a Hobart youth team on Saturday when Carlo Ambrosino scored two minutes into injury time but it made amends for this defeat by beating a combined North and North-West youth team 3-1 in Launceston the following day.

DETAILS: Olympia 4 Croatia 1, Juventus 7 White Eagles 0, Rapid 1 Metro 0, University 1 Caledonians 0, Hobart Youth 1 AIS 0, North & North-West Youth 1 AIS 3.

PR MATCH DISASTER

ON THE surface it looked great. A charity match between Canberra Arrows and Monaro with such greats as Atti Abonyi, Adrian Alston, Vic Fernandez and Roberto Vieri once more pulling on their boots. Now our man in Canberra STEVE BURNS takes up the story.

The match proved a public relations disaster for Canberra Arrows with top-level ACT Soccer Federation Administrators. In one swoop it has undone months of fence-mending.

Why? According to two administrators who telephoned me this week the game was organised without any consultation with the State body. That approval is required — and the game clashed with the Federation's own City versus Country division final the same day between Juventus and Kambah.

The fact that the State body was totally ignored had caused great bitterness, the officials said.

So much so the Arrows had been requested to make a formal and public apology.

"It was a public relations disaster," one top official said.

"Between the scenes all season there had been great progress made to mend fences with local Federation clubs.

"In one hit all of this good work was thrown out the window.

"It was tragic that pre-match publicity stated the game had been organised when there was no other senior Soccer being played.

"Just a phone call to the State body would have put that one right — and if it had been done permission for the game would have been granted — with one proviso, that referees must give preference first to the Juventus versus Kambah game.

"That didn't happen and it caused us problems because games in those Country versus City Division play-offs occurred at all age groups.

"Won't Canberra Arrows ever learn the right and wrong way of doing things," the exasperated official said.

Vitriol aside, the game was an excellent one — even if watched by a pitiful 300 or 400 spectators because of lack of pre-match promotion.

The Arrows used many youth players and Monaro had Roberto Vieri — but it was good to see, once more, the skills of Abonyi, Alston and Fernandez for the Arrows.

And the skills of this foursome are still considerable.

Fernandez, by far the oldest, was perhaps the most remarkable. The man is touching 50 and yet played like a youngster.

The end result. A 4-4 draw, but the result didn't really matter — it was, after all, a charity game with much of the proceeds helping Monaro Charity Queen, Elizabeth Fienza.

And Monaro's livewire president, Mr Laura Pastrello, who suggested the game — even had Readymix Concrete sponsor the game and present the Readymix Charity Cup.

Because it was a draw and such an enjoyable afternoon officials of the two clubs decided to have a second bite at the cherry (ball). A reply will be organised in the near future — probably at Monaro's ground — and the trophy will be presented.

AN AUSTRALIAN schoolboys team will play the Australian Institute of Sport side at Spencer Park next weekend.

The match will be a curtain-raiser to the Brisbane City — Footscray National League match and will climax the Australian secondary schools Soccer championship being held in Brisbane this week.

Townsville in a replay of the replay in 1981. That year, Ipswich drew 1-1 in Townsville then were beaten 1-0 at Ebbw Vale.

The coalminers won the trophy in 1979, 12 years after the club first won the trophy in 1967.

On recent form, Mount Gravatt must start slight favourites next weekend.

Both clubs have been winning in recent weeks but Mount Gravatt appears to be playing its best football at the right time of the year.

A week ago they clinically dissected bottom club Brisbane City to win a Premier League game 5-0 to set themselves for a clean sweep of the local trophies.

Ipswich will be hoping to have midfielder Jeff Dann back for the final as he is a key player in the side. Dann injured his knee ligaments a fortnight ago and has been fighting to regain fitness since.

The winner will receive $4000 while the runner-up gets $2000. The prizemoney is part of a total $13,500 which makes the cup by far the richest Soccer competition in the State.

HAWKS WANT AMPOL CUP!

LEADING Queensland Premier League club Mount Gravatt next weekend will attempt to win the lone honour which has eluded it since it entered the State's top competition more than five years ago.

Mount Gravatt plays Ipswich United in the final of Queensland's Ampol Cup competition at Perry Park next Sunday.

It is almost hard to believe that the Hawks have never won the knockout trophy as they have consistently been the most successful club in Queensland in recent seasons.

Under the astute coaching of Fred Robbins, Mount Gravatt — along with rivals Grange Thistle — dominated the latter years of the now defunct State League and now, under the guidance of player-coach Eric Thompson, is leading the Brisbane-based Premier League competition.

But Mount Gravatt has never been able to crack the Ampol Cup.

And they couldn't have picked any tougher opponents for the final.

Ipswich United could be regarded as Ampol Cup experts in Queensland. The club has featured in three of the last four finals, although Ipswich has only won the trophy once in that time.

Last year, on their home ground, Ipswich were beaten 2-1 by

STH. AUSTRALIA

WITH one round to go in the S.A Rothmans League first division, three clubs are battling for the title on Saturday.

Two of the contestants meet when leaders Para Hills (22 points) take on third placed Croatia (21).

But the surprise packet could be Beograd who were front-runners then dropped away, but have come charging back to second place, also on 21 points, with a massive 17 plus goal difference to Para's 11 and Croatia's 7.

Beograd got a vital 1-0 away win over Croatia last week, while Para were held 0 - 0 at Campbelltown.

Polonia, fourth on 20 points, are at home to Bir-kalla who are clinging to seventh place

Campbelltown are now out of the Ampol Cup but their home match against West is still important because it could see the latter sneak into the Coca Cola Cup for the top four

West are in fifth place a point behind Polonia while last year's champions, Azzurri are sixth on 18 points and are at home to bottom team Port after a shock 1-0 defeat at Bir-kalla last week. Wests were also shattered by a 1-1 draw at the Port.

OF THISTLES AND PANSIES

'ROUGH HOUSE' TACTICS, YELLOW CARDS AND A BROKEN ANKLE

FORMER New Zealand international and Brisbane Lions NSL midfielder Mark McNaughton will not play again this season after he broke an ankle in a Premier League match a week ago.

McNaughton, now captain and sweeper of successful Greek club Olympic United, required surgery to re-pin the bone broken in a match against third-placed club Grange Thistle.

It was a telling blow for Olympic as not only is McNaughton one of their key players, but the defeat also saw Olympic leap-frogged by Mount Gravatt at the top of the table.

McNaughton broke his ankle in a tackle with Thistle's John Russell and the incident brought strong protests from Olympic coach Con Tharenou.

Tharenou was highly critical of alleged rough-house tactics by Thistle. He blasted the match officials on the night.

Tharenou was so incensed that late in the game he walked to the sideline and challenged his players to prove they were not "pansies" and give back what they were getting. Olympic finished the match with four yellow cards to Thistle's one.

"I have never told my players before to play the man but I had no choice after the treatment they were getting," Tharenou said.

The allegations were dismissed by Thistle officials who described them as "over-emotional reactions."

"They have had it good now for months. Now they have started losing they don't like it," one official said.

LEICHHARDT	19	3	5	11	23	43	14
WOLLONGONG	20	2	6	12	18	48	12

The race is hotting up for the three teams that will join Sydney City for the Youth League Top Four Play offs.

The Slickers meanwhile inched slowly towards the title with a hard fought 1-1 draw with A.I.S. while nearest challengers St George crashed to Wooden Spooners Wollongong at Zlems Park by 2-1.

At the Sydney Athletic Field on Saturday Jimmy Shoulders Australian Institute side earned a useful point from the Slickers helping them in their late run for a top four spot. Neither side had any clear domination in this game with command switching from side to side for short periods. But the Slickers had a slight edge on goal chances and young Soccerroo keeper Tony Franken in excellent form.

After some early Slickers pressure, A.I.S. opened the scoring in the 16th minute when Andrew Bernal latched on to a good first time ball from Warren Spink to beat keeper Lucky Konistis with an angled shot.

Graeme Fletcher equalised for the Slickers in the 29th. Out at Marconi Stadium in a very dour match visitors Newcastle defeated the Fairfielders. After a scoreless first half Paul Gillogly capped off a fine game by scoring the winner for Newcastle in the 53rd minute after a good run into the box by Grant Lee.

At Corrimal, St George's ambitions took a tumble when they went down to the lowly Wollongong Wolves by 2-1. Despite constant pressure on the Wollongong goal for the first 35 minutes, it was Wolves who scored, Warren Baker gathered a loose ball from a high clearance from his own defence and ran through a confused St George defence to score past the advancing Mike Fraser.

Saints levelled the scores in the 41st minute when Andy Koczka beat keeper Jim Preston with a bullet header.

After the break, Wolves were narrowly off target with a couple of efforts before David Green on the right wing went inside to pick up a Jim Preston clearance before slotting it in off the post, past the advancing Mike Fraser.

NSW midfielder Tony Clark scored a hat trick in his first appearance for the State at Cromer Park on Sunday.

Clark, brought in from the Sutherland representative side, assisted NSW to a 5-1 win over the Western Australians.

The other NSW scorers were Rod Williams and David Harris. The Westerners could only net one after a misunderstanding in the NSW defence in a fast and physical game.

Victoria bettered New Zealand 2-0 in a non-competition game in which neither team really got into its stride.

The series continues on until Saturday. Then on Sunday, Australia and New Zealand meet at St George Soccer Stadium at 1pm.

The international is followed by two NSL games — St George v Adelaide City and Leichhardt v Marconi.

ABOUT TURN FOR BATTLERS

LAST season we referred to the Blacktown United U8 Div 3 team as the "Blacktown Battlers".

We said that they turned out each week full of enthusiasm — and it was London to a brick on that they were on a hiding.

That certainly was the position and 14 straight losses, 54 goals against and only three for them says it all.

Playing for the sake of the sport and knowing each time that they turned out they would be outgunned, they stuck to their task.

This season, with seven of the same boys involved, they have turned the tables.

Graded into U9 Div 5, the United boys have gone through the season undefeated. Their scoring figures are similar — only in reverse — with 55 for and 5 against.

It seems that practice has gradually made perfect, and coach Mick Leahy and manager Kevin Hope and all the boys, parents and friends are proud that the losers have turned into winners.

No doubt the Blacktown & District SFA's grading committee will have noted your 1983 record, boys, and you will have the chance next season to further show your prowess up a grade or so in the under tens.

A 'LOST' TEAM?

THE Southern Districts U16 Youth League Squad is being tagged "The Team With Nowhere to Go".

This team, under the guidance of coach Carlos Aravena has had a very successful season. After qualifying for the round-robin semi-finals and finishing in equal second place, the team narrowly missed a berth in the final on goal difference.

Now, however, after building a real team spirit and sense of companionship, it appears the squad is destined to disband.

This almost ludicrous situation has been brought about by the failure, earlier this season, to successfully negotiate with the Riverwood State League side to move to Ernie Smith Reserve, the home ground of the Southern Districts Club.

responsibility for the future.

However such was the decision, apparently by Liverpool City Council, and so two clubs wishing to unite for the overall benefit of Soccer had their proposal squashed.

The suggestion has been made that the City Council may have been "advised" by other local Soccer clubs.

The Southern Districts U16 players will now be seeking to join clubs outside the area.

Unless something is done soon to rectify this situation, the same fate awaits the other teams coming up through the ranks in Southern Districts Youth League squads.

Meanwhile, Carlos Aravena and his lads prepare for the State Championships! Then — well, who knows?

HILLS SKILLS

UNDER three club coaches, Alan Bricknell, Eric McMahon and Geoff Prior, Winston Hills has won three League Championships out of five. They have also won three Grand-Finals out of four since their under six days.

Now in U10 Division 1, the attitudes and progress of the boys in the skills of the game have been first-class. They play in the very strong and keenly contested Granville District competition.

Eight of the original Under 6 team are still in the squad.

DURAL COACHES IN TWO SPORTS

BY DAVID JACK

AS THE advertisements in AUSTRALIAN SOCCER WEEKLY indicate, there are any number of coaching camps now available for youngsters during the school holidays. Most of them are excellent.

Bill Englefield tells us the camps at Englefield Stadium, Dural are different to all others — because boys receive Soccer and Cricket coaching side by side.

From September 5 to 9, boys from 8 to 15 years will be at Englefield Stadium to be coached in either sport.

Over the past few years, some of the biggest names in Soccer have handled the coaching at Dural. Men like Rale Rasic, Johnny Warren, Raul Blanco, Atti Abonyi and Alan Maher have been involved in the live-in camps.

Now Doug Walters, Brian Taber and Ross Collins have been added to the team to pass on their Cricket knowledge.

The rural setting and motel-style accommodation make this venue ideal for kids.

ARMIDALE IS READY FOR YOUR BOYS

BY JOHN ECONOMOS

EVERY School holiday presents problems to parents about occupying their children's idle time

But at the University of New England, Armidale, next January, a wonderful opportunity exists for parents to send their young aspiring Soccer players to be coached by the professionals.

The East-West Airlines National Soccer Camp at Armidale will have on its staff, Willie Wallace (three times in the Scottish World Cup squad), Jimmy Shoulder, (Director of Coaching at the Australian Institute of Sport), Les Scheinflug, (Australia's national coach), Tony Boskovic (Australia's World Cup and No 1 referee).

The National Soccer Camps give an excellent opportunity for young players to acquire first-class professional coaching from "names" they recognise.

"The University of New England's combined residential and Soccer training facilities are as good as any I have seen overseas," said Willie Wallace.

Co-Director of the Camp is Eric Worthington, National Coaching Director for the Australian Soccer Federation.

The National Soccer Camp which has been developed after consultation with the ASF, is open to players from the ages of 10 to 18 years inclusive.

The Camp is well sponsored by East-West Airlines, Adidas, Milo, the Commonwealth Bank, Dunlop Sport and Rally.

The main aim is to help young players of all levels of ability, but they also aim to identify outstanding potential talent, especially in country areas, at an early stage in a player's development.

The University has also set aside funds and made arrangements for a month's scholarship in Europe for a boy of outstanding ability.

There are provisions at the National Soccer Camp for courses for trainee coaches and parents, and campers are prepared and examined for Level 1, Level 2, and Level 3 National Coaching Awards.

Families may enjoy a sports holiday and use the wide range of recreational facilities—including tennis and squash courts, swimming pool, sauna, exercise machines and a fitness trail.

Comfortable accommodation is also available in University flats, close to the College used for the Camp.

Applications close on OCTOBER 31, but the University advises early application because, as in previous years, the number of places is limited.

All inquiries, as well as inquiries about the University's East-West Airlines National Rugby League Camp, (Directors Peter Corcoran and Paul Broughton), Rugby Union Camp (Director John Hipwell) and Beiersdorf Sports Trainers' Camps (Level 1 and Level 2 Australian Sports Trainers' Scheme Courses) should be sent to the University of New England Sports Union, Armidale, NSW, 2351 (TELEPHONE: 067-722811).

VICTORIA, HERE WE COME!

THIS WEEK is an important one for NSW U16 coach Allan Edmondson, now in his fifth year as a coach of one of the State's junior representative teams.

The record so far reads two National titles and two runners-up.

Aided by Manager Jim Giffin of Bankstown and masseur Andy Watson of Sutherland Shire, the NSW Under 16 team is in action this week at HMAS Cerberus, on the Mornington Peninsula in Victoria.

An accountant with the Dept of Technical & Further Education, Edmondson has had club coaching experience at State League level with Blacktown City, Riverwood and now Sutherland Shire.

NSW started its 1983 campaign yesterday (Monday) against the Western Australians.

The remaining first round games are: Tues: v Victoria; Wed: v A.C.T. The semi-finals and the first of the play-offs are held on Thursday.

The final is set for Friday at 3pm, preceded by the remainder of the play-offs.

Over the years the boys, backed by their parents, friends and officials, have worked consistently to build their skills and teamwork.

Chris Kalantzis is a fine example of the potential of many of the players.

An outstanding left side player, Chris has appeared with credit in the National League already.

His crisp passes and ability to keep at his task have led vastly-experienced Sydney Olympic coach Tommy Docherty to class him as one of Australia's most outstanding Soccer discoveries of recent years.

Chris recently played for Olympic in the NSW Youth League final, won 1-0 by arch-rival Marconi.

The goalkeepers are Nick Conradi and Joe Laianca. Nick holds dual registration with Manly-Warringah Assn and State League club, whilst Joe is a keen Leichhardt product.

Defender Robert Hooker, now with Sydney City, is a Ka-ring-gai district product. He is the captain, with midfielder Ross Etherington of Manly as vice-captain.

Other defenders are Duncan Worthington (Ku-ring-gai), Carlo Spina (Leichhardt), Raf Marco (Marconi) & Wayne Pierce (Manly).

Spina and Marco started out with Gladesville Association before moving to the junior units of leading clubs.

Marconi coach Doug Collins predicts a big future for Marco, a very intelligent sweeper.

The midfielders are Tony Rapo, Greg Lerond, Rick Monsalve & Alfredo Carmona.

Rapo came through the St George juniors to Croatia's Sydney. The others are from Sutherland, Marconi and Canterbury Association respectively.

The strikers are Steve Strasshofer (Canterbury Assn), Greg Fisher (Ku-ring-gai) and Johnny Veneri (Marconi).

Veneri, extremely strong on the wing has outstanding prospects. He worked his way through from Southern Districts Assn U14 reps to playing for his club.

Overall 12 of the party were born in Australia, two in Spain and one apiece in England and Chile.

Twelve are still undertaking school studies. One is a bricklayer and others are a public servant, a salesman and a storeman.

IRON LADY

For the past three years she has been the co-ordinator of Albury-Wodonga Association's representative teams and she also edits the local ASWA Year Book.

With the representative teams she has travelled thousands of miles through Victoria and NSW.

Apparently she is regarded locally as an "Iron Lady".

Local Soccer correspondent Frank Finlay tells us she will respond to the name of "Mrs Thatcher".

Or to go one further — we are told without risking meeting her in court — she is at other times known as "Attila the Hen!"

But so much for poking innocent fun. She has earned a second to none reputation as a great Soccer administrator who is always engulfed in her duties.

She is quite a disciplinarian with her "boys", but pity help any one of them who comes up with either foul play or bad language.

Apart from her Association duties she is fully committed to her club, Albury St Patrick's, of which she is the secretary.

In private life a speech teacher, she is also keenly interested in the progress of her son Duane, who is a member of the club and also the Albury Wodonga under 14 representative team.

TRAVELLERS EXTRAORDINARY

It's quite a hike to travel from Bargo, well on the way down the Hume Highway towards Mittagong and Bowral, to Blacktown. But Darren Risson (left) and Greg Ross were keen enough to want to play in Blacktown and District SFA's NSW Youth League teams that they have been coming up for training and the games each week.

COOL

Blacktown & District SFA's Director of Coaching Chris James provided these pictures of the Association's Under 14 and 15 Youth League teams before the sweat of recent matches. It seems that the under 14s are lucky that Vic Dalglish is taking an interest in them.

We are indebted to well-known Soccer identity George Streeter for supplying us with this excellent team picture of the U12 Div 2 team from the 47 team strong Greystanes Soccer club. SERDERON THE PLASTIC MAN PRIZE

SEATTLE SOUNDERS ARE NOT SO SOUND!

SEATTLE SOUNDERS are in danger of going broke because crowds at their home games in the North American Soccer League are not covering expenses.

This is worrying for several imported UK players, particularly former Manchester City stars Joe Corrigan and Steve Daley and Peter Ward, ex-Forest and Brighton.

Corrigan and Daley had to wait three weeks for overdue pay packets recently.

Other NASL clubs feeling the pinch financially are San Diego and Fort Lauderdale.

...

FORMER Manchester United and England centre-half Brian Greenhoff has been playing in Finland but is now back in England and looking for a new club.

SCIREA TOP PLAYER

WHO was the best player in the 1982 World Cup in Spain? Most people would plump for goalscorer Paolo Rossi or one of the brilliant Brazilians, Zico, Junior, Falcão or Socrates.

Ossie Ardiles, the Argentine maestro,

Gaetano Scirea, doesn't agree. In his autobiography, Ardiles writes: "All the great stars were outshone by Italy's sweeper, Gaetano Scirea. He is a technician blessed with super vision. He was so consistent — he never had a bad match."

Joe Corrigan, will he return?

DEYNA'S RECORD EFFORT

KAZ DEYNA, Poland's veteran former World Cup star, has finally come good in the USA.

Deyna had a spell with Manchester City in England but was not a success.

Now he's with San Diego Sockers and, after missing the team's first nine games through a knee injury, he really socked it to 'em against Tampa Bay Rowdies.

Deyna scored four goals and made five assists, a total of 13 points under the strange NASL system. That's a record for one match — the previous best being 12 points for Giorgio Chiagliola with Cosmos in 1976.

CASABLANCA BUT NO BOGIE

CASABLANCA — the place, not the Bogart-Bergman movie — brought great joy to Liverpool's players recently.

When Liverpool won a pre-season match in the North African city, it was their first victory in 11 outings.

That is an amazing bad streak for Liverpool, rated one of the world's most consistent teams.

At the end of last season, Liverpool went seven matches without winning, couldn't win on tour in Israel, Hamburg or Rotterdam and even lost a Testimonial game in Belfast 4-3 to Manchester United.

ALL GREEK TO LANGLEY

GREEK club AEK Athens will not be able to sign the former Crystal Palace forward Tommy Langley.

Langley was looking forward to ending his career in Greece but when he got to Athens he was told he'd have to return to England.

His transfer contravened a Greek Government rule limiting Greek clubs to two imports each.

Everton midfielder Trevor Ross was also signed by AEK and it seems his arrangement met no snags.

SPAIN GETS GERRY

SPANISH football folk were great admirers of Gerry Armstrong, the Northern Ireland forward, during last year's World Cup in Spain.

Now, they'll see a lot more of the big Irishman, who plays for Watford. Armstrong has signed to play for Spanish club Real Mallorca at a fee of $370,000.

It is good business for Watford because Armstrong had only one year to go on his contract and would have been a free agent at the end of this season.

WOLVES had five players injured on their Swedish tour. This meant team manager Graham Hawkins had to be on the bench as substitute in their final game against FK Vaeskera.

LEO EHLEN, a Dutchman, played for Nottingham Forest in a friendly match against Groningen in Holland.

Groningen won 2-1 and Ehlen was taken off after an hour.

LOCAL BOY MAKES GOOD

"LOCAL" players don't often get a go with the star-studded New York Cosmos side — not with all those expensive foreigners holding down first team spots.

One who has broken through, however, is full-back Erhardt Kapp, now a regular in Cosmos' lineup.

Though born in Rumania, Kapp settled in the USA from the age of seven and is the only Cosmos player brought up in New York.

This New York Times story puts the focus on Erhardt Kapp.

Patience Paying Off for Cosmos' Kapp

By ALEX YANNIS

When Coach Julio Mazzei speaks of the left fullback position on the Cosmos these days, the first name he mentions is Erhardt Kapp, the only player on the team who grew up in New York.

Kapp was born in in Rumania, and the Kapp family moved to West Germany before emigrating to the United States and settling in Glendale, Queens, when Kapp was 7 years old. He played soccer for Brooklyn Tech and for three consecutive years was selected to the all-city team.

Kapp also played soccer for Blau-Weiss Gotschee in the Cosmopolitan American League, formerly the German-American League, before going to the University of Connecticut, where he was named an all-American twice while playing as a regular for four years.

The Cosmos made Kapp their first choice and the fourth selection of the draft in 1981. Despite his credentials, Kapp showed patience and never complained about not being used in a game in his rookie season.

Rather than become discouraged, Kapp learned as much as he could from his experienced teammates. He realized, he said last week, that few young players had been fortunate enough to play alongside Carlos Alberto and Franz Beckenbauer.

"I knew that my chance to play would come sooner or later if I continued to work hard and show in practice that I could play," Kapp said.

The first chance for the 23-year-old Kapp came against Chicago on May 16, 1982. But he started in only five games the rest of last season.

Kapp continued to work diligently, making it hard for Mazzei not to notice him. The coach started the season in every game in the post-season tour in 1982 and said before this the regular left fullback. Something happened on the way, however, and Kapp didn't become a regular until recently.

Kapp will make his sixth consecutive start tonight when the Cosmos meet the Montreal Manic at Giants Stadium after starting only once and being used as a substitute 5 other times in the previous 20 games.

"I don't know why the Professor didn't use me all that time," Kapp said about Mazzei, whose nickname is Professor. "He didn't speak to me about it all that time. The only explanation that I have is that I went with the national team for about two weeks and I missed an exhibition game with the Cosmos."

"The reason I didn't use him all that time," Mazzei said, "was because he went into a terrible phase. But he waited for his time to come, and when it did he took it."

"He went through the same sequence as Darryl Gee," Mazzei said, referring to the other young American fullback on the Cosmos. "Darryl got hurt, and Kapp came in and established himself. He's improved greatly and has become a very consistent player."

Except for the second half against Team America in Washington last Wednesday night, when most of the Cosmos played poorly despite a victory, Kapp has done a creditable job in recent games and scored his first goal in the North American Soccer league.

The goal came against Seattle as a result of one of his frequent ventures on attack. Although he can play just as well in the middle of the defense, he is most effective on the left side.

"I just like to play game in and game out," Kapp said. "Look at what Ricky Davis has done by playing in every game. Knowing that you play in every game gives you a lot of confidence."

The Cosmos, coming off two victories on the road, are gaining confidence as the playoffs approach and have a chance of capturing first place in the overall standing for the sixth consecutive year.

The Cosmos announced that the first game of the playoffs would be held Sept. 6 and that tickets for the playoffs would go on sale tomorrow.

ELECTRIC SHOCKS

SPONSORSHIP of the Football League competition by electronics giants Canon is described as "the biggest sponsorship deal in British sport."

It is worth about $5,000,000.

Trouble is, the contract gives Canon the right to advertising at all grounds and in all match programs. And this has caused a major problem with glamour club, Arsenal.

Arsenal are sponsored by a rival electronics group, JVC. And JVC have advertising rights in the Arsenal program and around the Highbury pitch.

It's said the League has been told to take back the $17,000 first payment from Canon to Arsenal, but this story has been denied.

Ken Friar, the Gunners' general manager, said his club was having talks with the Football

Manchester United could have similar problems, too.

FOR SPONSORS

League to try to find a solution.

"We are keen to cooperate out there are contractual problems," said Friar. "The trouble concerns the fact that we have already signed contracts with our sponsor JVC."

EIGHT PLAYERS SACKED

SIGN of the times — Millwall have slashed their professional playing staff from 27 to 19.

It is a severe economy measure but it will save the London club $250,000 a year in wages.

Millwall need home crowds of 12,000 on average to break even financially but last season their average was only 4,000. With the smaller staff, the break even figure has been lowered.

Supporters did their bit to help as unpaid volunteers — painting the New Cross ground during the summer.

Manager George Graham, ex-Chelsea, Arsenal and Manchester United, says he hopes Millwall will be in the third division promotion hunt right from the start.

"It's going to be tough," said Graham, "but we have a good bunch of players. In the race for promotion, I like the look of Burnley, Bolton, Newport and Brentford."

WILKINS MYSTERY DEEPENS

ALAN HUDSON has signed for Chelsea, having convinced manager John Neal that he is fit and in form after returning from North America.

Hudson is one of the most gifted ball artists in the game

IT seems strange but some English experts tip brilliant midfielder Ray Wilkins to leave Manchester United.

There have been rumours about Wilkins' departure for a long time. The critics claim he'll lose his first team place to Remi Moses. It is significant, though, that in the F.A. Charity Shield, Wilkins was outstanding for the Red Devils and Moses didn't win selection.

Arsenal have already made a bid of $320,000 for Wilkins. That seems a small figure for a big player.

Bond, Lampard and Brooking

THIS looks like being the last season in the big time for three great West Ham United players.

It's almost the end of the road for Trevor Brooking, Billy Bonds and Frank Lampard.

Lampard joined West Ham in 1964, Brooking a year later and Bonds arrived in 1967.

The popular trio are the last links at West Ham with the great old side in which Bobby Moore, Geoff Hurst, Johnny Byrne and Martin Peters were star names.

One thing is certain — Soccer will be the poorer when Brooking, Bonds and Lampard call "quits."

CHELSEA IS OPTIMISTIC

AFTER several years in the doldrums, there are hopes that famous London club, Chelsea, are about to get back on the winning trail.

Chelsea have spent $1,000,000 on strengthening their side in a bid to win promotion from the second division.

Club chairman Ken Bates says he is eagerly looking forward to the new season. Commenting on the new signings, he said: "Some players had been at Chelsea too long — they took things for granted. They were not motivated and took liberties. They were the back end of Chelsea's player power days."

The fans are also optimistic about 1983-84. They've picked up season tickets to the value of nearly $2,000,000.

Chelsea assistant manager Ian McNeill is overjoyed at the form shown pre-season by tiny winger Pat Nevin from Clyde. "Never mind talking about Charlie Nicholas — this kid's dynamite. He'll be the talk of London Town before long," said McNeill.

Nevin, it may be remembered, played for Scotland's Youth team in Australia's group in this year's World Youth Championship in Mexico. He was hardly "dynamite" in those games. To be fair, though, very few of the Scottish players looked as if they were enjoying Mexico. They would rather have been back home on their summer holidays!

MAN TO MAN FOR BUCHAN?

THOSE deadly rivals, Manchester City and Manchester United, rarely do transfer business together.

Denis Law, of course, played for both clubs but he was an odd man out. Now, however, there is a tip that former United captain, Martin Buchan, who is on a free transfer, could move a few kilometres across Manchester to sign for City.

Injuries to Tommy Catton and Nicky Reid present the Maine Road club with defensive worries which Buchan could solve.

Buchan, one of United's most popular players in recent years, had a Testimonial last week against Aberdeen.

EAMONN BANNON (Dundee United) celebrated the birth of his twins by scoring two goals — one for each baby — in the pre-season match against West Ham United.

EVEN before last Saturday's opening of the English season, some critics claimed Arsenal bought badly when they secured Charlie Nicholas's transfer from Celtic. In pre-season games, Nicholas has been a major disappointment.

GUINNESS IS GOOD FOR THEM

THE famous advertising slogan "Guinness is Good for You" should be applied to Queens Park Rangers from now on.

QPR have just clinched a sponsorship deal with the famous Irish brewers which will bring in $800,000 over the next three years.

Players will be used in Guinness advertising and the name of the company will be carried on their jerseys.

QPR boss Terry Venables said: "We are delighted

MORLEY ON THE MOVE

TONY MORLEY of Aston Villa is rated one of the finest wingers in England but his in-and-out form cost him his regular spot in the first team last season.

Morley believes a change of club would help him regain his international position.

West Brom have made a move to sign him but may be pipped by beaten Cup Finalists Brighton who see Morley as just the man to inspire their quick return to the first division.
